Vols Tap Highland Man, Parade Will Start at 5

CONGRATULATES NEW PRESIDENT—Domenick Costantino, left, newly-elected president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, accepts congratulations from the retiring president, Herbert F. Faurote of Bloomington. Costantino, a member of Highland Hose Co., served as vice-president prior to Friday night's election of new officers. The 29th annual convention of the county vols will be climaxed today with a parade scheduled for 5 p. m. in Rosendale. (Freeman photo)

Thousands of Hudson Valley residents today are expected to view the 29th annnual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association parade which steps off at 5 p. m. sharp in Rosendale.

Forty-seven fire companies and auxiliaries and 21 musical units will participate.

History-Making Event

The parade will climax a three-day convention, which reportedly was attended by the largest number of association members in years. The parade today is expected to be a history-making event because of the anticipated large number of units participating.

Officers for 1964-65 were elected at the annual business session Friday night at Bloomington Firehouse. Elected were: Domenick Costantino, Highland, president, to succeed Herbert Faurote of Bloomington; Rodney DuBois of Wiltwyck Hose Company, city, first vice president; Robert Kuhar, Ellenville, second vice president; Fred C. Harder, Kingston, secretary (he has served 22 years in that office); Henry DuBois, New Paltz, treasurer (he served 20 years in office), and Lee Keator of New Paltz, reelected director for a five-year term.

Kingston in 1966

With DuBois now serving as second vice president, if tradition is followed, the 1966 convention will be held in Kingston, as DuBois undoubtedly will be in line for the office of president at the 31st annual convention of the association.

The 1965 annual event will be held in Highland.

Fire Chief Oscar Hahn welcomed the delegates at the annual meeting last night.

Faurote, out-going president, greeted the delegates and expressed his appreciation to all members of the county association for their "fine cooperation and efforts" displayed during his tenure in office. He urged all to give continued support to his successor.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Richard Lake, chaplain of the Bloomington fire unit.

Guests last night included Charles Warner Sr., and his son, Charles, of the Beacon fire department.

Notes Accomplishments

Faurote, in his retiring speech noted that among the accomplishments of the association during his term in office as president, the group re-established the Ulster County Day at the Firemen's Home of the State of New York at Hudson, which is scheduled for August 23.

Reports of incumbent officers were submitted and approved last night.

Ulster County fire coordinator Winfred Snyder reported that from Jan. 1, 1963 to date a total of 9,581 radio calls had been recorded at Mutual Aid Head-

Viet Issue If Johnson Backs Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has told Republican congressional candidates that foreign policy — and Viet Nam — will be the major campaign issue if President Johnson backs off from his Southeast Asia stand.

Newsmen Barred

Newsmen were barred from Friday night's meeting in a hotel banquet room, but reporters outside the door heard the GOP's presidential nominee say of Johnson:

"If he doesn't continue what he has started to do, then I can assure him that not only Viet Nam but all of his foreign policy is going to be the major issue of the campaign."

Goldwater noted that some of his political foes have accused him of being "trigger happy." But the Arizona conservative, according to a Republican who heard the speech, said a decision to order naval air strikes against North Viet Nam's PT boat fleet would neutralize that charge.

"The Republican party has not led this country into a war this century. We are the party of peace," the senator was heard to say.

Republicans have always preserved the peace, he said, because they understand the use of power.

Newsmen were able to hear only part of Goldwater's remarks before the house detective ordered them away.

Will Use Pollsters Data

Earlier in the day, GOP National Chairman Dean Burch disclosed that pollsters were being used to sample public sentiment to help chart Goldwater's campaign.

Goldwater said he intends to launch his campaign formally with a speech at Prescott, Ariz., Sept. 4.

Major Red Move Still Not Ruled Out by U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — High U.S. authorities said today chances of a major expansion of the Vietnamese war appear to be lessening.

They reported that there had been no sign, so far, of mass troop movements in Communist China or North Viet Nam. And they said there had been no evidence that Communist sea forces or planes were hunting targets.

Congress Closes Ranks

President Johnson had near-unanimous support from Congress to employ a flexible military response if necessary to meet any new Communist thrust in Southeast Asia.

By votes of 414 to 0 and 88 to 2, respectively, the House and Senate Friday approved a joint resolution that "approves and supports" Johnson's determination "to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

South Viet Nam, focal point of the anti-Communist struggle in Southeast Asia, remained under virtual martial law, imposed Friday by Premier Nguyen Khanh.

Jets Head for Asia

Redeployment of beefed-up U.S. strength in the South Pacific continued. A squadron of supersonic jet fighters, newly arrived from the United States, stopped briefly in Hawaii, then headed for the Western Pacific and Southeast Asia.

At the United Nations the Security Council invited both North and South Viet Nam to take part in debate on the situation in Southeast Asia.

While optimistic that the situation would continue to ease, U.S. officials did not rule out the possibility that it might take the Communists a while to deploy their forces if they planned a major move.

Taken by Surprise

The feeling here was that the North Vietnamese had been taken by surprise when U.S. planes bombed four torpedo bases and an oil refinery Wednesday as retaliation for Communist attacks on two U.S. destroyers.

The resolution passed by Congress had been requested by Johnson to show bipartisan support for his Viet Nam stance.

In the House, although there were no votes against it, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., voted present, and Rep. Eugene B. Siler, R-Ky., was paired against the measure and said he would have voted no had he been present.

The two senators who opposed the resolution were Democrats Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska, both persistent critics of administration policy in Southeast Asia.

"All Viet Nam is not worth the life of a single American boy," Gruening told the Senate.

Johnson Hails Action

Johnson hailed the congressional action as "a demonstration to all the world of the unity of all Americans."

And he followed up by picking Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, to visit allied capitals to acquaint leaders with the U.S. position and purposes in Southeast Asia.

Lodge quit his ambassadorial assignment to work for Gov. William W. Scranton in the Pennsylvanian's unsuccessful quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

Lodge talked to newsmen after meeting with Johnson and reiterated previous statements that he did not see how Viet Nam "can be an effective political issue" in the fall campaign.

The GOP presidential nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, agreed earlier this week that for now, at least, Viet Nam is not a partisan issue.

Vol Admits 27 Blazes In Colonie

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police say that a 21-year-old volunteer fireman has orally admitted setting 27 fires that caused an estimated $1-million damage in the nearby Town of Colonie since late 1962.

Waives Examination

Gregory J. Rice of Colonie was arrested Friday and arraigned Friday night on charges of second and third-degree arson. He waived examination pending grand jury action and was committed to the Albany County Jail.

A State Police official said that Rice told them he set the fires because "I like to drive the fire engine."

Rice, employed by the village street department in Colonie, was a member of the Colonie Village Fire Department and usually drove one of the engines to the fires.

Marriage Caused Gap

Among the places the husky laborer admitted setting fire to, troopers said, were several lumber companies, the Colonie Village Hall, a school and a state-owned warehouse.

Rice was recently married, and State Police said that there was a gap in the frequency of arson caused fires about the time Rice was married.

Rainmaker Starts, Prospects Are Dim

"It doesn't look too promising."

That was the comment from an Ulster County cold storage plant operator this morning as he summed up rain prospects for drought-stricken farmlands in the area.

Melford H. Hurd, of the Hurd Cold Storage plant in Clintondale, told The Freeman that several generators were set up this morning in Ulster County in compliance with objectives of the Howell Associates rainmaking firm hired by more than 35 area farmers and fruit growers last week in a desperate effort to prod an appreciable amount of rainfall from the heavens.

The farmers and fruit growers agreed at a meeting at the Hurd plant to retain the firm of W. E. Howell Associates of Lexington, Mass. The Howell operation, scheduled to cover an area from Newburgh to Highland and west to the Shawangunk Mountain range, involves use of generators which release silver iodide smoke into clouds at strategic locations.

Hurd said that 10 generators were in operation Wednesday in the Dutchess County area and that at least seven were installed between Thursday and today in Ulster County. He said that there was a report of a weather front which could produce possible showers, and he was instructed by the operators of the Howell program to turn off the generators by 3 this afternoon in the absence of further instructions. He said the generators were put into operation between 6 and 9:30 this morning.

Slight Probabilty

However, area weather predictions called for partly cloudy and cooler today with very slight probability of rain.

It was noted that at least 10 generators were in operation on Wednesday when Poughkeepsie was swept by a driving rain accompanied by huge hailstones. Hurd told The Freeman that he was advised by the Howell Associates that it wasn't likely there was any connection between the two because the function of the generators would have decreased the possibilty of hail rather than produce it.

Meeting Pushes Speculation RFK Eyes Senate Job

Due Back Monday

Kennedy met with Wagner Friday at Gracie Mansion, the mayor's official residence. Later, a city hall spokesman, in disclosing the meeting, said the two discussed the recent race riots and "politics in general." Kennedy is scheduled to return here Monday after a Cape Cod, Mass., weekend.

On a stopover at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Kennedy was asked if he would accept a draft for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

"I haven't gone into it," he replied.

Asked about the political implications of the Wagner - Kennedy meeting, state Democratic chairman William H. McKeon said:

Not Opposed to Bobby

"All I know is that the mayor expressed himself as 'not opposed' to a Bobby Kennedy candidacy in a meeting we had with upstate leaders at Irvington, N.Y., a few days ago."

Turk Planes Roar Over Cyprus Again

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Turkey asked today for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council to take up Greek Cypriot attacks on Turkish Cypriots.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish air force jets roared over Cyprus today in a second show of support for the embattled Turkish Cypriot minority, a Turkish Cypriot spokesman announced.

None Open Guns

None of the planes apparently opened their guns as they swooped over the island's northwestern coast, scene of bitter fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots for the past three days. However, a Turkish Cypriot spokesman said the aircraft had been ordered to "intervene when necessary."

The Cyprus dispute veered into another crisis stage Friday after Turkish jet fighters swept over Polis, a small port in northwest Cyprus.

The Greek Cypriot government said the jets had strafed the village, hitting an Italian cargo ship in the harbor. It said it would bring a charge of aggression against Turkey before the U.N. Security Council and ordered the 30,000 - man Greek Cypriot national guard on a standby alert.

Denies Any Shooting

Turkey had emphatically denied that its planes had done any shooting Friday, but it promised they would be back today on a reconnaissance. If U.N. peacemaking efforts don't show any results, the Turkish government statement warned, Turkey might bomb the island to aid the Turkish Cypriot cause.

In Athens, Greek military leaders went into an emergency conference to consider the military implications of the new crisis.

Greek Defense Minister Peter Garoufalias warned that the "unjustified aerial attack" had created "a highly dangerous situation which might lead to war."

The Greek Cypriots said four American-made Supersabre jets had strafed Polis Harbor, hitting an Italian freighter which had just taken on a cargo of copper ore.

Says Ship Was Hit

The freighter, St. George, radioed this message to the British-owned copper mines afer the incident, a spokesman said: "Safe at 1930 (7:30 p.m.) after being machine-gunned. Crew safe."

Four men were injured, one seriously, in a one-car crash about 4 a. m. today on Route 213 about a mile east of Rt. 32 in the Town of Esopus.

Taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of injuries were:

Saugerties Man Serious

Douglas Freer, 24, Woodstock, the driver, cuts and head injuries; Edward Pelham, 20, of Saugerties, skull fractures, condition serious; John Schuman, 25, of Kingston, possible fractured jaw, and John Hendricks, 36, Kingston, shoulder injury. Pelham, Schuman and Hendricks were passengers.

State Police at the Highland substation said that Freer was driving west on Rt. 213 when his car crossed the north side of the road and struck six guard posts and a tree. Troopers Wally Mahan and Robert Anderson investigated.

The World's Week

Summary of Events Here and Abroad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Americans finally got the full story last Monday morning it appeared to be an isolated incident.

Three North Vietnamese torpedo boats had attacked an American destroyer in the Gulf of Tonkin; the destroyer, with the help of four fighter planes from a nearby carrier, had sent them limping away; and President Johnson had instructed 7th Fleet commanders that if anything of the sort ever happened again, shoot to kill. He also sent a note of protest to the Communist government in Hanoi.

The incident, however, turned out to be a prelude.

For under cover of darkness and in a rough sea a second group of Red PT boats attacked the same destroyer, the Maddox, and another which had subsequently joined it in its gulf patrol, the Turner Joy.

In three hours the attackers were sunk or driven off. Then, on orders from Washington, planes from the carriers Constellation and Ticonderoga swooped beneath the low overcast along 100 miles of North Vietnamese coastline, bombed and strafed 25 torpedo boats in their coastal nests, blasted seven antiaircraft batteries near an oil storage depot, and left the depot with its 14 tanks in near total ruin.

After the second torpedo boat attack President Johnson summoned 16 congressional leaders from both parties and after a 90-minute meeting announced that he would go on television with a message to the American people. Meanwhile, he had contacted Sen. Barry Goldwater of Ari-

Senate Approves Second $100,000 for Rosendale

The Senate has approved a second appropriation of $100,000 for pre-construction planning on the Rosendale Flood Control Project as part of its $4.4 billion public works water projects for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The Senate also approved a $50,000 planning appropriation for the North Ellenville project and a $3,500,000 appropriation for improvement work on the Hudson River between New York and Albany.

The Senate made no changes in its action Friday from recommendations made by the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday.

The $100,000 figure for the Rosendale project has already been approved by the House, which allowed $3,200,000 for the Hudson River work and nothing for North Ellenville.

The whole bill, as passed by the Senate, calls for $107 million more than voted by the House. The total is $8,635,800 less than President Johnson's requests, but $24,872,500 more than last year's appropriation, ac-

Action Taken to Improve Glasco Water Plan Flow

Saugerties Town Board at its meeting this week approved five recommendations from it consulting engineers to improve water flow into Glasco Water System.

The Town Board serves as water commissioners of Glasco Water District.

Emergency Procedures

Emergency procedures recommended by Brinnier and Larios of Kingston are as follows:

Remove existing altitude and back pressure valve from meter pit where water main connects with Village of Saugerties system at Barclay Heights.

Replace existing piping which includes a reduction from a 10 inch to eight inch line with either all eight-inch or 10-inch main.

Place a check valve in meter pit to prevent backflow into the village system.

Install New Meter

Install new meter of eight or 10 inch size in meter pit.

Install new 10 inch altitude valve at the Glasco standpipe to prevent overflow.

These emergency steps would reduce friction through existing meter pit installation and would adequately maintain storage level, the engineers said.

This work should be ordered immediately in order that materials will arrive by mid-September.

List Costs

A new meter in the meter pit would cost as follows: An eight inch meter $1,260; 10 inch meter $1,680 with four to eight weeks allowed for delivery.

Cost of a new 10-inch altitude valve would cost $759 with six weeks for delivery.

The engineers also recommended that the board study the possibilities of securing an additional source either from its new well on the Schroeder property or from the Hudson River.

Early Trial Is Possible For 4 Georgia Klansmen

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Evidence against four Athens white men charged with the slaying of a Washington, D.C., Negro is expected to be presented to a grand jury this month.

Solicitor General Clete Johnson said Friday that the four could be brought to trial during the week of Aug. 31.

Johnson said the state "would prosecute the murder charge very vigorously if the evidence is there."

The four, identified by the FBI as Ku Klux Klansmen, were named in state warrants charging murder in the shotgun slaying of Lemuel S. Penn. Penn was shot to death on a lonely road during the early morning hours of July 11. His auto was blasted with shotgun fire.

U.S. Commissioner Giriard Hawkins held the four under $25,000 bond each after a hearing on federal charges brought under the new Civil Rights Act.

Hawkins said one of the four, James S. Lackey, 28, a gas station attendant, admitted complicity in the slaying and implicated the other three.

The state murder charges were brought to the Athens jail Friday. They were signed by H.L. Pulliam, a deputy sheriff in Madison County.

The others charged are Herbert Guest, 37, garage operator; Cecil William Myers, 25, laborer, and Joseph Howard Sims, 41, a machinist.

Rainmaker Starts, Prospects Are Dim

"It doesn't look too promising."

That was the comment from an Ulster County cold storage plant operator this morning as he summed up rain prospects for drought-stricken farmlands in the area.

Melford H. Hurd, of the Hurd Cold Storage plant in Clintondale, told The Freeman that several generators were set up this morning in Ulster County in compliance with objectives of the Howell Associates rainmaking firm hired by more than 35 area farmers and fruit growers last week in a desperate effort to prod an appreciable amount of rainfall from the heavens.

The farmers and fruit growers agreed at a meeting at the Hurd plant to retain the firm of W. E. Howell Associates of Lexington, Mass. The Howell operation, scheduled to cover an area from Newburgh to Highland and west to the Shawangunk Mountain range, involves use of generators which release silver iodide smoke into clouds at strategic locations.

Hurd said that 10 generators were in operation Wednesday in the Dutchess County area and that at least seven were installed between Thursday and today in Ulster County. He said that there was a report of a weather front which could produce possible showers, and he was instructed by the operators of the Howell program to turn off the generators by 3 this afternoon in the absence of further instructions. He said the generators were put into operation between 6 and 9:30 this morning.

Slight Probabilty

However, area weather predictions called for partly cloudy and cooler today with very slight probability of rain.

It was noted that at least 10 generators were in operation on Wednesday when Poughkeepsie was swept by a driving rain accompanied by huge hailstones. Hurd told The Freeman that he was advised by the Howell Associates that it wasn't likely there was any connection between the two because the function of the generators would have decreased the possibilty of hail rather than produce it.

Meeting Pushes Speculation RFK Eyes Senate Job

Due Back Monday

Kennedy met with Wagner Friday at Gracie Mansion, the mayor's official residence. Later, a city hall spokesman, in disclosing the meeting, said the two discussed the recent race riots and "politics in general." Kennedy is scheduled to return here Monday after a Cape Cod, Mass., weekend.

On a stopover at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Kennedy was asked if he would accept a draft for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

"I haven't gone into it," he replied.

Asked about the political implications of the Wagner - Kennedy meeting, state Democratic chairman William H. McKeon said:

Not Opposed to Bobby

"All I know is that the mayor expressed himself as 'not opposed' to a Bobby Kennedy candidacy in a meeting we had with upstate leaders at Irvington, N.Y., a few days ago."

The World's Week

Summary of Events Here and Abroad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Americans finally got the full story last Monday morning it appeared to be an isolated incident.

Three North Vietnamese torpedo boats had attacked an American destroyer in the Gulf of Tonkin; the destroyer, with the help of four fighter planes from a nearby carrier, had sent them limping away; and President Johnson had instructed 7th Fleet commanders that if anything of the sort ever happened again, shoot to kill. He also sent a note of protest to the Communist government in Hanoi.

The incident, however, turned out to be a prelude.

For under cover of darkness and in a rough sea a second group of Red PT boats attacked the same destroyer, the Maddox, and another which had subsequently joined it in its gulf patrol, the Turner Joy.

In three hours the attackers were sunk or driven off. Then, on orders from Washington, planes from the carriers Constellation and Ticonderoga swooped beneath the low overcast along 100 miles of North Vietnamese coastline, bombed and strafed 25 torpedo boats in their coastal nests, blasted seven antiaircraft batteries near an oil storage depot, and left the depot with its 14 tanks in near total ruin.

After the second torpedo boat attack President Johnson summoned 16 congressional leaders from both parties and after a 90-minute meeting announced that he would go on television with a message to the American people. Meanwhile, he had contacted Sen. Barry Goldwater of Ari-

Senate Approves Second $100,000 for Rosendale

The Senate has approved a second appropriation of $100,000 for pre-construction planning on the Rosendale Flood Control Project as part of its $4.4 billion public works water projects for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The Senate also approved a $50,000 planning appropriation for the North Ellenville project and a $3,500,000 appropriation for improvement work on the Hudson River between New York and Albany.

The Senate made no changes in its action Friday from recommendations made by the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday.

The $100,000 figure for the Rosendale project has already been approved by the House, which allowed $3,200,000 for the Hudson River work and nothing for North Ellenville.

The whole bill, as passed by the Senate, calls for $107 million more than voted by the House. The total is $8,635,800 less than President Johnson's requests, but $24,872,500 more than last year's appropriation, ac-

Early Trial Is Possible For 4 Georgia Klansmen

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Evidence against four Athens white men charged with the slaying of a Washington, D.C., Negro is expected to be presented to a grand jury this month.

Solicitor General Clete Johnson said Friday that the four could be brought to trial during the week of Aug. 31.

Johnson said the state "would prosecute the murder charge very vigorously if the evidence is there."

The four, identified by the FBI as Ku Klux Klansmen, were named in state warrants charging murder in the shotgun slaying of Lemuel S. Penn. Penn was shot to death on a lonely road during the early morning hours of July 11. His auto was blasted with shotgun fire.

U.S. Commissioner Giriard Hawkins held the four under $25,000 bond each after a hearing on federal charges brought under the new Civil Rights Act.

Hawkins said one of the four, James S. Lackey, 28, a gas station attendant, admitted complicity in the slaying and implicated the other three.

The state murder charges were brought to the Athens jail Friday. They were signed by H.L. Pulliam, a deputy sheriff in Madison County.

Action Taken to Improve Glasco Water Plan Flow

Saugerties Town Board at its meeting this week approved five recommendations from it consulting engineers to improve water flow into Glasco Water System.

The Town Board serves as water commissioners of Glasco Water District.

Emergency Procedures

Emergency procedures recommended by Brinnier and Larios of Kingston are as follows:

Remove existing altitude and back pressure valve from meter pit where water main connects with Village of Saugerties system at Barclay Heights.

Replace existing piping which includes a reduction from a 10 inch to eight inch line with either all eight-inch or 10-inch main.

Place a check valve in meter pit to prevent backflow into the village system.

Install New Meter

Install new meter of eight or 10 inch size in meter pit.

Install new 10 inch altitude valve at the Glasco standpipe to prevent overflow.

These emergency steps would reduce friction through existing meter pit installation and would adequately maintain storage level, the engineers said.

This work should be ordered immediately in order that materials will arrive by mid-September.

List Costs

A new meter in the meter pit would cost as follows: An eight inch meter $1,260; 10 inch meter $1,680 with four to eight weeks allowed for delivery.

Cost of a new 10-inch altitude valve would cost $759 with six weeks for delivery.

The engineers also recommended that the board study the possibilities of securing an additional source either from its new well on the Schroeder property or from the Hudson River.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The first American foreign missionary society had its beginning in a haystack one hot August afternoon during a thunder shower. The place was Williams College, in Massachusetts, and the year 1806.

John Mills as leader of a group of first year students with a devout interest in religion had gone for a walk with four companions. As they were discussing the "plight of the poor heathen" in Asia, a sudden shower came up and they found shelter in a nearby haystack. There they continued their discussion and prayer.

Mills' father was a minister and his pious mother once said of her son, "I have consecrated this child to the service of God as a missionary. He resolved that afternoon that the five would take the message of Christ to non-Christians throughout the world. Out of that solemn dedication came the organization in 1810 of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions which is now part of The United Church Board for World Ministeries.

Today a monument marks the site where the "haystack prayer meeting" prompted the faith of five young college students to action.

Boat Deck Is Pulpit At Lakeside Services

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP) — The Rev. Delmar Rodgers sometimes finds his congregation in play clothes.

But, it's only natural because many of the worshipers come by boat.

Once a month, the young minister of the Monticello Christian church conducts a 30-minute Sunday evening service at nearby Lake Cumberland.

The Rev. Mr. Rodgers describes his waterside service as an effort to unite pleasure and Christianity. His pulpit generally is the deck of a boat.

"A lot of people in our congregation have boats. Rather than let the boats become a wedge between them and their faithfulness to the church, we have the service at the lake," the minister said.

"Let's say its accommodating. Those with boats feel they're putting them to good use."

Sponsored by Young People

The service is sponsored by the young people of the church. It began last summer and attendance has averaged about 100 persons.

Dress is informal though the minister explains "We ask for some measure of dignity. The people definitely are on vacation. Some stay on their boats during the services."

There are boats of all descriptions, usually including five or six houseboats.

Rodgers has been in this south-central Kentucky town of 3,000 population for about one and one-half years. He came from Rockford, Ill. Previous pastorates were in large cities, including Chicago.

Services Are Brief

His lakeside services are limited to 30 minutes of music and a brief sermon.

For music, "We use local talent and quartets such as we can find."

The site of the service also is accessible by road and is near a popular spot called Conley Bottom.

"It's a good place for swimming and boating," Rodgers explained. "Folks have been congregating in that area for a long time. It's a natural place to go."

The playground-church site has acquired a nickname: Christian Point.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The first American foreign missionary society had it's beginning in a haystack one hot August afternoon during a thunder shower. The place was Williams College, in Massachusetts, and the year 1806.

John Mills as leader of a group of first year students with a devout interest in religion had gone for a walk with four companions. As they were discussing the "plight of the poor heathen" in Asia, a sudden shower came up and they found shelter in a nearby haystack. There they continued their discussion and prayer.

Mills' father was a minister and his pious mother once said of her son, "I have consecrated this child to the service of God as a missionary. He resolved that afternoon that the five would take the message of Christ to non-Christians throughout the world. Out of that solemn dedication came the organization in 1810 of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions which is now part of The United Church Board for World Ministeries.

Today a monument marks the site where the "haystack prayer meeting" prompted the faith of five young college students to action.

Boat Deck Is Pulpit At Lakeside Services

But, it's only natural because many of the worshipers come by boat.

Once a month, the young minister of the Monticello Christian church conducts a 30-minute Sunday evening service at nearby Lake Cumberland.

The Rev. Mr. Rodgers describes his waterside service as an effort to unite pleasure and Christianity. His pulpit generally is the deck of a boat.

"A lot of people in our congregation have boats. Rather than let the boats become a wedge between them and their faithfulness to the church, we have the service at the lake," the minister said.

"Let's say its accommodating. Those with boats feel they're putting them to good use."

Sponsored by Young People

The service is sponsored by the young people of the church. It began last summer and attendance has averaged about 100 persons.

Dress is informal though the minister explains "We ask for some measure of dignity. The people definitely are on vacation. Some stay on their boats during the services."

There are boats of all descriptions, usually including five or six houseboats.

Rodgers has been in this south-central Kentucky town of 3,000 population for about one and one-half years. He came from Rockford, Ill. Previous pastorates were in large cities, including Chicago.

Services Are Brief

His lakeside services are limited to 30 minutes of music and a brief sermon.

For music, "We use local talent and quartets such as we can find."

The site of the service also is accessible by road and is near a popular spot called Conley Bottom.

"It's a good place for swimming and boating," Rodgers explained. "Folks have been congregating in that area for a long time. It's a natural place to go."

The playground-church site has acquired a nickname: Christian Point.

AP Assigns Over 150 Staffers To Cover Demo Convention

The Associated Press has assigned more than 150 news and photo staffers to carry the story of the Democratic National Convention to the nation and the world.

Their reports, bulletins and pictures will be transmitted instantly over a network of leased wires operating from Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N.J.

The convention opens Aug. 24, but staffers will be on hand well before that to cover preliminary activity.

William L. Beale Jr., Washington Bureau chief and veteran of 14 national conventions, will supervise the news report. The news editor will be Marvin L. Arrowsmith, news editor of the Washington Bureau and former White House correspondent.

F.A. Resch, AP general newsphoto editor, who has covered Washington Bureau and former conventions since 1932, will direct photographic coverage.

Supervisors

His supervisory editors will include Patrick J. McDonald and Robert L. Tieken from New York, Barry Stroup from Washington, William F. Achatz from Philadelphia, Richard Strobel from Los Angeles, and James Laxson from Atlanta, all veterans of numerous conventions.

Newsmen and photographers from AP bureaus across the country will join in the coverage.

In addition to the general stories on the convention, the AP will provide widespread regional coverage. The object is a story for morning newspapers and another for afternoon newspapers each day for each state on activities of their delegations.

Close Coordination

Two closely coordinated editing desks will be set up. One, headed by J. W. Davis of the Washington Bureau, will handle the general news, and another supervised by Bennett Wolfe of the Washington Bureau will have charge of state and regional news.

The general leads for morning newspapers will be written by Douglas B. Cornell, a veteran of almost 35 years of Washington news coverage and a specialist in the wrap-up story of big events.

The overnight leads for afternoon newspapers will be handled by Jack Bell, head of the AP Senate staff for 22 years, with spot tops during the day by Harry Kelly, also a Washington news veteran.

VP Coverage

Frank Cormier, White House correspondent, will cover the activities of President Johnson. Also on hand will be reporters regularly assigned to political figures who have been mentioned as possibilities for the vice presidential nomination.

Art Edson of Washington and special correspondent Saul Pett of New York will write behind-the-scenes news and feature stories. James Marlow, news analyst, will interpret convention developments in his "The World Today" column.

Frances Lewine, who regularly covers news of the nation's First Ladies, and Joy Miller of New York, will write of the distaff personalities on the convention scene.

Three Shifts

The AP staff will work in three shifts around the clock to provide up-to-the-minute news and photo coverage.

During the convention sessions, private telephone lines will link the AP news desks with reporters on the platform and on the floor.

Experienced operators will man teletype machines and Wirephoto transmitters that will feed a network of leased wires.

Copy will flow from Convention Hall into two AP national news wires and the AP's national Wirephoto network. A third national news wire will be in reserve for use as needed.

Regional Wires

Also, regional wires will be available to transmit to four sections of the country news of special interest to the areas. Regional Wirephoto network legs will provide a similar service for pictures.

Resch will have a convention staff of more than 50 photographers, photo editors and darkroom technicians.

Davis will be assisted at the day general news desk by Harry Kelly, W. H. Mobley and Larry Osius.

The night general desk will be manned by Don Sanders, Lew Hawkins and Gardner Bridge; the early general desk by Joe Kane, Barry Schweid and Stanley Meisler.

Assigned to the Convention Hall platform are William Arbogast, Raymond J. Crowley, John Beckler, Geoff Gould, Wilbur Martin and Joe Mohbat.

Po'keepsie Man To Face Charge After Jail Term

A 45-year-old Poughkeepsie taxi driver, who completed a 20-day sentence in the Ulster County jail Friday, was re-arrested on his release by Poughkeepsie police on a charge of first degree grand larceny.

Donald Lindley, 45, of 13 North Hamilton Street, a part-time cab driver employed by DuBois Cabs, was picked up here on a warrant by Detective William Naughton. Lindley will appear before Poughkeepsie City Judge Milton Haven.

Lindley was arrested here on July 17 and charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated on Mill Street. Unable to post $200 cash bond, he was ordered committed to the county jail.

While the Poughkeepsie man was detained for hearing, city police received a teletype alarm sent out reporting a DuBois taxicab had been stolen. Police said Lindley was driving that car when apprehended here on the drunk driving charge. A warrant was issued in Poughkeepsie charging the man with grand larceny first degree. The warrant was executed yesterday after 5 p. m.

On July 20, Lindley pleaded guilty before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman to a charge of drunken driving. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve 20 days in jail. In lieu of payment of the fine he was committed. Judge Saccoman also revoked the defendant's driving license.

At the time of Lindley's arrest here, he was at liberty in bail of $50 pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace Allan S. Dargie, Town of Esopus, on a charge of drunken driving. Sheriff's deputies accused Lindley of driving a car while intoxicated after the vehicle struck a parked car owned by Bertha Blair, of 212 Broadway, Port Ewen.

Hearings Slated On System of Air Pollution Control

Studies of possible air pollution are currently underway in Ulster, Dutchess, Greene and other counties throughout New York State, according to Commissioner of Health Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham.

The "air quality studies," as they are called, are part of a proposal to determine whether various industrial, commercial and residential areas require designation as zones with specific air quality standards.

Different standards would be established for each type of zone. A residential zone, for instance, would be required to maintain a higher standard of air cleanliness than an industrial one.

Public hearings on the proposal will be held next month in Buffalo, Albany and New York City on Sept. 9 through 11. Civic officials, industry spokesmen and others with a stake in air pollution control will be asked to come, hear the proposal explained and offer their views.

The proposed air standards system, Dr. Ingraham stated, would "aim for the cleanest air possible, consistent with economic progress and health."

"The air zones," the Commissioner added, "are not to be based on local zoning regulations."

Air quality standards to be considered were developed by a council of nationally known medical and technical specialists from industry, all levels of government and private consultants, Dr. Ingraham said. If adopted, the system would only be usable by a municipality after a thorough inventory had been made of its existing air pollution.

Inventories have already been completed in Chemung, Erie, Nassau and Niagara counties. Studies are under way in Ulster, Dutchess, Greene, Albany, Columbia, Rensselaer, Rockland, Schenectady, Suffolk and Westchester counties.

LBJ to Confer With Newsmen at Ranch, No Data

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) —President Johnson meets with newsmen today at his ranch here—but what he says won't be known to the world for a while.

Johnson scheduled his news conference for 9:45 a.m. (CST), but under the ground rules what he says can't be relayed for nearly two hours.

Reporters pledged they would file no stories until they returned to Austin by bus, a 65-mile trip.

The reason for this is that filing facilities in this area are inadequate for the White House reporters here for the President's visit and for the Texas newsmen who report his activities while in Texas.

Press Secretary George Reedy gave no indication whether the President had something particular he wanted to announce, or merely would subject himself to questioning.

Dear Abby . . .

A Son's Thoughts

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't get that Father's Day column out of my mind. This is for the mother who sent you her 19-year-old son's letter in which he said, "If I turn out to be a father like my dad, I wish somebody would shoot me."

Only when your son has sons of his own will he appreciate what his father has done for him. I assume your son is not paying his own way through college. Few sons do.

I had the same type of father. He never played ball with me. He never cuddled me when I was young. Never talked with me, man-to-man. He never took me on trips, either. But he worked every day. And he paid the bills. And he put food on the table and clothes on my back, and shoes on my feet. And he quietly did without himself.

I used to feel resentment, too. But now I have sons of my own, and realize that there are many ways of showing love. And my father loved me no less for his inability to show it. One day that son will live to eat his words.

OLDER AND WISER

DEAR ABBY: The letter on Father's Day from the boy who was disappointed in his father bothered me. Considering the thousands of boys who have had to grow up without fathers, I think this young man is lucky to have had even a part-time father. At least he's made a home for his family and has paid the bills. If the boy fears his younger brother will suffer from the absence of a father's love and guidance, why doesn't he spend more time being the older brother? Older brothers are usually adored and looked up to by the younger ones.

I have four sons, from 9 to 16. Their father has been in the state mental hospital since the oldest boy was eight years old, so it is almost as though they had no father at all. His mind is gone and he will be there the rest of his life. Yet the boys keep busy, help each other, help me, and I have never once heard any of them complain about how tough it is to be without a father.

MOTHER OF FOUR

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from the college son to his mother, criticizing his father. The boy sounded like an over-protected, spoiled, sniveling brat, just looking for points against probably a hard-working, long suffering, devoted, introverted father. Who sent this kid to college? My husband is a quiet man, and our three sons adore him in a quiet way. They feel no necessity to drool over one another. One son is a newspaper man and the other two are engineers, and they all married wonderful girls. The boys turned out to be the kind fathers brag about, but my husband never bragged. My husband never took the boys hunting or fishing. In the summer he either was going to college (he is a school teacher) or working to supplement our income. He never wrote any of them a letter in his life. Yet they loved and respected each other and enjoyed a fine relationship. What we need today is more strong silent men who quietly rule their homes. Then no son will hope to be shot if he isn't taken fishing or to Disneyland. Honestly!

WICHITA WIFE

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the letter from the college boy who condemned his father for not being a "good" father:

I am willing to bet that if you were to ask one hundred successful, reasonably well-adjusted family men if their fathers ever played ball with them, took them on trips, or sat down and talked "man-to-man" with them, ninety-five would have to say no.

N.Y. to Fight Negro Poverty With Paychecks

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City has found summer jobs on its own payroll for 200 teen-agers from its racially troubled slum neighborhoods. Eight hundred more are to get jobs next week.

The goal is to get the youths off the streets, give them job experience and fight poverty with paychecks.

Recruiting centers report that hundreds of disappointed youths have been turned away daily. The emergency program, financed by the city's Antipoverty Fund, is geared for 1,000 youths this summer.

The first 200 were placed Friday but only 26 of them went on the payroll immediately—24 as weed cutters along city streets and two, both girls, as clerks.

The 26 Negroes and Puerto Ricans got a pep talk from City Highways Commissioner John T. Carroll, who told them: "I don't want you to think weed-picking is an unnecessary or menial job."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced the program a week ago as part of his antipoverty program to meet the needs of Negroes and Puerto Ricans in Harlem and Brooklyn.

Both sections were torn by racial rioting and looting last month.

The youths hired by the city will get $1.50 an hour, and many said they'd spend a large part of it on clothes.

Veteran's Rights, Benefits are Listed

By Charles L. Culver, State veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Johu B. Tyler, Director, Ulster Connty Veterans Service Agency, 4 Hurley Avenue. Office Hours: Monday through Friday 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. during July and August.

Insurance—Beneficiary changes in a GI insurance policy cannot be made in a last will and testament. Policyholders should make certain that the beneficiaries named in their insurance are brought in line with recent changes in their family status.

"Many cases show up in which proceeds of the policy must be paid to someone outside the veteran's immediate family because the veteran failed to keep his beneficiary listing up-to-date," Culver and Tyler stated. "In many of the cases, the beneficiaries are the same person the veterans named when they took out their policies years ago, though they have since married and now have families." Marriages, divorces, births, or deaths are the ty,pe of changes in family status which may indicate needed changes in beneficiary listings. Change of beneficiaries can be made at any time without notifying the existing beneficiaries. Beneficiary change forms are available at this office.

Veterans who have any questions as to procedure in making a change to conform to their current family status, or who need information and assistance in other matters relating to veterans affairs are urged to contact this office.

Equivalency Diploma—A test for the New York State high school equivalency diploma is given periodically throughout the state. Information about these equivalency tests and the dates they are scheduled for this area may be obtained from any high school principal. The high school equivalency diploma which is granted to a successful candidate is considered to be the legal equivalent of a diploma issued by a high school. Persons who are 21 years of age or over and legal residents of New York State are eligible to take the test for a high school equivalency diploma.

World War II Bonus—Honorably discharged veterans of World War II who were on active duty between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1945, and were legal residents of New York State for at least six months prior to entry into service are eligible for bonus. Application deadline: March 31, 1965.

PULTNEYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) —Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon said today that Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, has a "revolving door approach" to many issues.

McKeon, in an address prepared for a Wayne County Democratic Committee picnic here, told party workers that Americans want "a man who can think things through, calmly and cooly."

'Phony Names' Collect

IRS Bares $Million Swindle at 2 Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service was reported Friday to have uncovered a tax swindle at two metropolitan area harness race tracks whereby bettors used stand-ins, with phony names and addresses, to collect wagering payoffs.

The New York World-Telegram and Sun said the real winners were thus able to avoid payment of income taxes.

Referring to the scheme as a "million dollar tax swindle," the newspaper said IRS intelligence agents believe it is the work of an organized betting syndicate.

The World-Telegram identified the tracks as Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, Long Island, where a record $132,232 twin-double payoff was made last April 28, and Yonkers Raceway in Westchester County.

"This is not a two-bit operation where a couple of bettors find someone to collect for them or where someone uses a relative," an IRS spokesman was quoted as saying. "This is well-organized, professional and the work of big-time operators."

IRS agents recently located an ex-convict who used at least 12 phony names and addresses to collect more than $100,000 in twin-double payoffs during the last year.

Undercover IRS agents have been staked out this summer at both tracks in question. Agents also are checking other harness and running-race tracks throughout the country for possible tie-ins.

Library Reports New Additions

A number of new books have been received at the Kingston City Library just in time to read before many vacations end and work and school begins.

A Family of Islands, by Alec Waugh, is a history of the West Indies from 1492 to 1898, with a short epilogue of events from the Spanish American War to Castro. The author is a brilliant British novelist, and this book reflects his narrative ability.

Mississippi; the Closed Society, by James Silver, is the story about an insurrection in modern America. Silver is both a Mississipian and an historian. He describes how the seeds of the problem were planted long ago.

Why We Can't Wait, by Martin Luther King. The author is one of the moderate leaders in the civil rights struggle. This book states his case for "freedom now."

Justice in Moscow, by George Feifer, is a young American's first hand account of Soviet courts, from the lowest worker's tribunal to the supreme court of the land. The reader enters into the courtroom to watch trials in progress.

The Story of a Life, by K. Paustovsky, is an autobiography of one of the best Russian literary men. Refusing to fit into the Communist mold, his voice was constant and irritating threat to the Soviets.

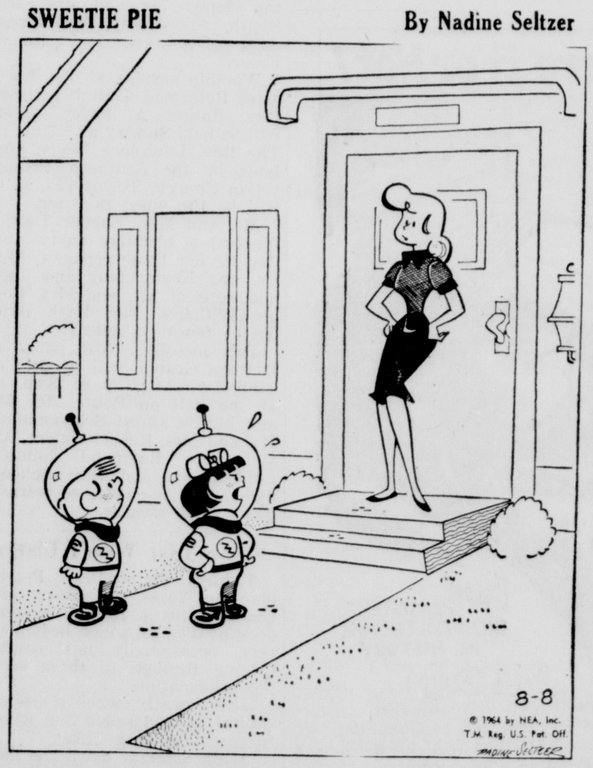

Miracle Man of Printing: Ottmar Mergenthaler, by Israel Levine, tells the story about the man who sacrificed his whole life to make a typesetting machine, one of the machines which revolutionized printing. The book is ideal for the teen-ager looking for information on this man.

Review of Child Development Research, edited by Martin L. Hoffman, is a thorough coverage of all facets of research in child development intended for the professional person in pediatrics, social work, education, and child psychiatry.

The American Heritage Cookbook and Illustrated History of American Eating and Drinking contains, in one volume, both a description of the evolution of man's eating habits and 500 tested recipes for some all-American dishes, from Indian pudding and succotash to apple pie and Kentucky burgoo.

These and many more new books are now available at the library. The library is open Monday through Friday, 10:30 to 8:30, and Saturday, 1-5.

AP Assigns Over 150 Staffers To Cover Demo Convention

The Associated Press has assigned more than 150 news and photo staffers to carry the story of the Democratic National Convention to the nation and the world.

Their reports, bulletins and pictures will be transmitted instantly over a network of leased wires operating from Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N.J.

The convention opens Aug. 24, but staffers will be on hand well before that to cover preliminary activity.

William L. Beale Jr., Washington Bureau chief and veteran of 14 national conventions, will supervise the news report. The news editor will be Marvin L. Arrowsmith, news editor of the Washington Bureau and former White House correspondent.

F.A. Resch, AP general newsphoto editor, who has covered Washington Bureau and former conventions since 1932, will direct photographic coverage.

Supervisors

His supervisory editors will include Patrick J. McDonald and Robert L. Tieken from New York, Barry Stroup from Washington, William F. Achatz from Philadelphia, Richard Strobel from Los Angeles, and James Laxson from Atlanta, all veterans of numerous conventions.

Newsmen and photographers from AP bureaus across the country will join in the coverage.

In addition to the general stories on the convention, the AP will provide widespread regional coverage. The object is a story for morning newspapers and another for afternoon newspapers each day for each state on activities of their delegations.

Close Coordination

Two closely coordinated editing desks will be set up. One, headed by J. W. Davis of the Washington Bureau, will handle the general news, and another supervised by Bennett Wolfe of the Washington Bureau will have charge of state and regional news.

The general leads for morning newspapers will be written by Douglas B. Cornell, a veteran of almost 35 years of Washington news coverage and a specialist in the wrap-up story of big events.

The overnight leads for afternoon newspapers will be handled by Jack Bell, head of the AP Senate staff for 22 years, with spot tops during the day by Harry Kelly, also a Washington news veteran.

VP Coverage

Frank Cormier, White House correspondent, will cover the activities of President Johnson. Also on hand will be reporters regularly assigned to political figures who have been mentioned as possibilities for the vice presidential nomination.

Art Edson of Washington and special correspondent Saul Pett of New York will write behind-the-scenes news and feature stories. James Marlow, news analyst, will interpret convention developments in his "The World Today" column.

Frances Lewine, who regularly covers news of the nation's First Ladies, and Joy Miller of New York, will write of the distaff personalities on the convention scene.

Three Shifts

The AP staff will work in three shifts around the clock to provide up-to-the-minute news and photo coverage.

During the convention sessions, private telephone lines will link the AP news desks with reporters on the platform and on the floor.

Experienced operators will man teletype machines and Wirephoto transmitters that will feed a network of leased wires.

Copy will flow from Convention Hall into two AP national news wires and the AP's national Wirephoto network. A third national news wire will be in reserve for use as needed.

Regional Wires

Also, regional wires will be available to transmit to four sections of the country news of special interest to the areas. Regional Wirephoto network legs will provide a similar service for pictures.

Resch will have a convention staff of more than 50 photographers, photo editors and darkroom technicians.

Davis will be assisted at the day general news desk by Harry Kelly, W. H. Mobley and Larry Osius.

The night general desk will be manned by Don Sanders, Lew Hawkins and Gardner Bridge; the early general desk by Joe Kane, Barry Schweid and Stanley Meisler.

Assigned to the Convention Hall platform are William Arbogast, Raymond J. Crowley, John Beckler, Geoff Gould, Wilbur Martin and Joe Mohbat.

Po'keepsie Man To Face Charge After Jail Term

A 45-year-old Poughkeepsie taxi driver, who completed a 20-day sentence in the Ulster County jail Friday, was re-arrested on his release by Poughkeepsie police on a charge of first degree grand larceny.

Donald Lindley, 45, of 13 North Hamilton Street, a part-time cab driver employed by DuBois Cabs, was picked up here on a warrant by Detective William Naughton. Lindley will appear before Poughkeepsie City Judge Milton Haven.

Lindley was arrested here on July 17 and charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated on Mill Street. Unable to post $200 cash bond, he was ordered committed to the county jail.

While the Poughkeepsie man was detained for hearing, city police received a teletype alarm sent out reporting a DuBois taxicab had been stolen. Police said Lindley was driving that car when apprehended here on the drunk driving charge. A warrant was issued in Poughkeepsie charging the man with grand larceny first degree. The warrant was executed yesterday after 5 p. m.

On July 20, Lindley pleaded guilty before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman to a charge of drunken driving. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve 20 days in jail. In lieu of payment of the fine he was committed. Judge Saccoman also revoked the defendant's driving license.

At the time of Lindley's arrest here, he was at liberty in bail of $50 pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace Allan S. Dargie, Town of Esopus, on a charge of drunken driving. Sheriff's deputies accused Lindley of driving a car while intoxicated after the vehicle struck a parked car owned by Bertha Blair, of 212 Broadway, Port Ewen.

Hearings Slated On System of Air Pollution Control

Studies of possible air pollution are currently underway in Ulster, Dutchess, Greene and other counties throughout New York State, according to Commissioner of Health Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham.

The "air quality studies," as they are called, are part of a proposal to determine whether various industrial, commercial and residential areas require designation as zones with specific air quality standards.

Different standards would be established for each type of zone. A residential zone, for instance, would be required to maintain a higher standard of air cleanliness than an industrial one.

Public hearings on the proposal will be held next month in Buffalo, Albany and New York City on Sept. 9 through 11. Civic officials, industry spokesmen and others with a stake in air pollution control will be asked to come, hear the proposal explained and offer their views.

The proposed air standards system, Dr. Ingraham stated, would "aim for the cleanest air possible, consistent with economic progress and health."

"The air zones," the Commissioner added, "are not to be based on local zoning regulations."

Air quality standards to be considered were developed by a council of nationally known medical and technical specialists from industry, all levels of government and private consultants, Dr. Ingraham said. If adopted, the system would only be usable by a municipality after a thorough inventory had been made of its existing air pollution.

Inventories have already been completed in Chemung, Erie, Nassau and Niagara counties. Studies are under way in Ulster, Dutchess, Greene, Albany, Columbia, Rensselaer, Rockland, Schenectady, Suffolk and Westchester counties.

LBJ to Confer With Newsmen at Ranch, No Data

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) —President Johnson meets with newsmen today at his ranch here—but what he says won't be known to the world for a while.

Johnson scheduled his news conference for 9:45 a.m. (CST), but under the ground rules what he says can't be relayed for nearly two hours.

Reporters pledged they would file no stories until they returned to Austin by bus, a 65-mile trip.

The reason for this is that filing facilities in this area are inadequate for the White House reporters here for the President's visit and for the Texas newsmen who report his activities while in Texas.

Press Secretary George Reedy gave no indication whether the President had something particular he wanted to announce, or merely would subject himself to questioning.

N.Y. to Fight Negro Poverty With Paychecks

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City has found summer jobs on its own payroll for 200 teen-agers from its racially troubled slum neighborhoods. Eight hundred more are to get jobs next week.

The goal is to get the youths off the streets, give them job experience and fight poverty with paychecks.

Recruiting centers report that hundreds of disappointed youths have been turned away daily. The emergency program, financed by the city's Antipoverty Fund, is geared for 1,000 youths this summer.

The first 200 were placed Friday but only 26 of them went on the payroll immediately—24 as weed cutters along city streets and two, both girls, as clerks.

The 26 Negroes and Puerto Ricans got a pep talk from City Highways Commissioner John T. Carroll, who told them: "I don't want you to think weed-picking is an unnecessary or menial job."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced the program a week ago as part of his antipoverty program to meet the needs of Negroes and Puerto Ricans in Harlem and Brooklyn.

Both sections were torn by racial rioting and looting last month.

The youths hired by the city will get $1.50 an hour, and many said they'd spend a large part of it on clothes.

Veteran's Rights, Benefits are Listed

By Charles L. Culver, State veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Johu B. Tyler, Director, Ulster Connty Veterans Service Agency, 4 Hurley Avenue. Office Hours: Monday through Friday 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. during July and August.

Insurance—Beneficiary changes in a GI insurance policy cannot be made in a last will and testament. Policyholders should make certain that the beneficiaries named in their insurance are brought in line with recent changes in their family status.

"Many cases show up in which proceeds of the policy must be paid to someone outside the veteran's immediate family because the veteran failed to keep his beneficiary listing up-to-date," Culver and Tyler stated. "In many of the cases, the beneficiaries are the same person the veterans named when they took out their policies years ago, though they have since married and now have families." Marriages, divorces, births, or deaths are the type of changes in family status which may indicate needed changes in beneficiary listings. Change of beneficiaries can be made at any time without notifying the existing beneficiaries. Beneficiary change forms are available at this office.

Veterans who have any questions as to procedure in making a change to conform to their current family status, or who need information and assistance in other matters relating to veterans affairs are urged to contact this office.

Equivalency Diploma—A test for the New York State high school equivalency diploma is given periodically throughout the state. Information about these equivalency tests and the dates they are scheduled for this area may be obtained from any high school principal. The high school equivalency diploma which is granted to a successful candidate is considered to be the legal equivalent of a diploma issued by a high school. Persons who are 21 years of age or over and legal residents of New York State are eligible to take the test for a high school equivalency diploma.

World War II Bonus—Honorably discharged veterans of World War II who were on active duty between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1945, and were legal residents of New York State for at least six months prior to entry into service are eligible for bonus. Application deadline: March 31, 1965.

"How do you expect us to conquer space when we can't even leave the front yard?"

Dear Abby . . .

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't get that Father's Day column out of my mind. This is for the mother who sent you her 19-year-old son's letter in which he said, "If I turn out to be a father like my dad, I wish somebody would shoot me."

Only when your son has sons of his own will he appreciate what his father has done for him. I assume your son is not paying his own way through college. Few sons do.

I had the same type of father. He never played ball with me. He never cuddled me when I was young. Never talked with me, man-to-man. He never took me on trips, either. But he worked every day. And he paid the bills. And he put food on the table and clothes on my back, and shoes on my feet. And he quietly did without himself.

I used to feel resentment, too. But now I have sons of my own, and realize that there are many ways of showing love. And my father loved me no less for his inability to show it. One day that son will live to eat his words.

OLDER AND WISER

DEAR ABBY: The letter on Father's Day from the boy who was disappointed in his father bothered me. Considering the thousands of boys who have had to grow up without fathers, I think this young man is lucky to have had even a part-time father. At least he's made a home for his family and has paid the bills. If the boy fears his younger brother will suffer from the absence of a father's love and guidance, why doesn't he spend more time being the older brother? Older brothers are usually adored and looked up to by the younger ones.

I have four sons, from 9 to 16. Their father has been in the state mental hospital since the oldest boy was eight years old, so it is almost as though they had no father at all. His mind is gone and he will be there the rest of his life. Yet the boys keep busy, help each other, help me, and I have never once heard any of them complain about how tough it is to be without a father.

MOTHER OF FOUR

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from the college son to his mother, criticizing his father. The boy sounded like an over-protected, spoiled, sniveling brat, just looking for points against probably a hard-working, long suffering, devoted, introverted father. Who sent this kid to college? My husband is a quiet man, and our three sons adore him in a quiet way. They feel no necessity to drool over one another. One son is a newspaper man and the other two are engineers, and they all married wonderful girls. The boys turned out to be the kind fathers brag about, but my husband never bragged. My husband never took the boys hunting or fishing. In the summer he either was going to college (he is a school teacher) or working to supplement our income. He never wrote any of them a letter in his life. Yet they loved and respected each other and enjoyed a fine relationship. What we need today is more strong silent men who quietly rule their homes. Then no son will hope to be shot if he isn't taken fishing or to Disneyland. Honestly!

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the letter from the college boy who condemned his father for not being a "good" father:

I am willing to bet that if you were to ask one hundred successful, reasonably well-adjusted family men if their fathers ever played ball with them, took them on trips, or sat down and talked "man-to-man" with them, ninety-five would have to say no.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 8, 1964

SENATOR ENGLE

Quite aside from its political implications, the death of Sen. Clair Engle of California evokes deep regret and sober thought. His case was a classic example of the man stricken by a wholly unexpected catastrophe. It was a reminder of how fate or accident, call it what you will, can step in to decide the course of a man's career and of his very life.

The tragedy was all the more poignant because Senator Engle had notably been a man of fire and zest. The piteous spectacle he presented in his last appearances on the floor of the Senate, after twice having undergone brain surgery, was as different as could be from his customary behavior prior to his illness. He had been so well known for energy and forthright speech that his colleagues had jocularly called him "the only active volcano in Congress."

It came as a profound shock, therefore, when Senator Engle suddenly found his speech and motor control impaired. Two operations failed to cure him. His tragic experience, now ended in death, affords another disturbing glimpse of the uncertainty of the human condition.

NO ELIMINATION BOUTS

Most boxing fans seem to like the idea of elimination bouts as prelude to a crack at the championship. This applies in spades to the heavyweight title. The practice of more or less automatic return bouts is, for excellent reasons, not generally favored.

This comes irritatingly to mind, now that Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston have agreed to a return bout to contest the title that Liston gave up so easily. There's the rub in this case. Liston, bothered by a painful shoulder, relinquished his crown to the young challenger by just not responding to the seventh-round bell.

There also is the fact that, as a big shareholder in Sports International, Liston had had a part in a pre-fight agreement that this outfit could promote the next championsip bout and pick the challenger. Even though Liston has sold his shares, the present return bout arrangment does not set well with the public.

All in all, the fans would have been better pleased to see Clay take on some other contender. Their feelings are justified. Liston should have fought at least a couple of elimination bouts to prove his right to challenge the titleholder.

Those photographs of the moon are wonderful, and all that. It is exciting to know that the lunar surface is good, hard stuff, though pocked with craters right down to dishpan size. The importance of knowing just what kind of landing field the first expedition is going to touch down on is not open to question.

There was an element of disappointment in Ranger 7's photographic orgy, however. Not so much because the closeups revealed no moon men waving, or even a moon hut or lunar highway. It would have been fun had such things shown up, but that is not the sort of disappointment we have in mind.

Our dismay springs from the somewhat irrational thought that knowing so much about how the moon looks tends to rob it of romance. As long as the Rangers failed, an element of mystery remained; there was always a chance that something strange and exotic lurked on the moon. Now the mystery has been lessened, even if not wholly destroyed. That's one of the penalties of progress.

SOLILOQUY ON A SIDEKICK

One is not supposed to quote the President of the United States without authorization. The rule can hardly be considered to prohibit a reasonable guess at the interior monologue that must be going on these days in the White House incumbent's mind as the pros and cons of the Vice Presidential situation are tossed around. But, just to be safe, let us name no names. Let us follow the thought processes of a fanciful President X as he tries to come to terms with his own future as it will be affected by his choice of a running mate.

"Hmm," muses President X, "I had to be pretty brutal in cutting off Bobby K. But really, when the Republicans nominated that killer, Bill Miller, in hopes that they might use his Catholicism to bait me into naming Bobby K. because he is a Catholic, I had no choice. With Bobby I couldn't have carried anything south of Maryland. Bobby's a pro at politics, so even if his friends don't like what I did I know he'll understand.

"Well, anyway, what's done is done. So where are we now? That list of possible veeps I leaked the other night is a pretty good one. Let's see, I had Mayor Wagner on it, and Governor Pat Brown of California, and Gene McCarthy of Minnesota, and Tom Dodd of Connecticut. And, of course, there's Hubert Humphrey, who could be the one.

"The only trouble is that I'm not absolutely sure that Hubert can do the trick in November. That book he's just written might cause some trouble. It's called 'The Cause Is Mankind.' Nobody can be against mankind, so Hubert's book can't be faulted for the title page. I wouldn't even say that Barry Goldwater is against mankind, though I must admit that I'd like to plant the suspicion.

"Hubert's book won't bother anybody unless they add up everything he's for and then try to figure the cost in the budget. He wants us to wipe out the slums tomorrow, pour in federal aid for all sorts of schools, give every farmer a minimum of two bucks for a bushel of wheat, feed every hungry nation for free, match a big local Area Youth Employment Program with federal grants, subsidize the arts, keep foreign aid going. Every last one of these ideas is okay with me, but I can't see Hubert getting by the businessmen if their adding machines are working. And I know I can't turn out enough lights to pay for Hubert's program.

"Still, Hubert might be the key to holding the vote in the Midwest. If only he hadn't had to take the lead in putting the Civil Rights bill over in the Senate.

"That reminds me. Gene McCarthy, Hubert's sidekick from Minnesota, was not the man who stuck the gag in Dick Russell's throat. Maybe Gene would have all of Hubert's advantages and none of his disadvantages. At least he's been quiet insofar as the disadvantages are concerned.

"Hmm. The only trouble with Gene is that it might be considered an insult if I were to pick the junior senator from Minnesota instead of the senior.

"I might get out of that one if I were to pick Tom Dodd. They tell me there's been a rash of editorials in southern newspapers praising him for his anti-Communist foreign policy. The Hungarians and the Poles love him because he never fell for that unfortunate business at Yalta. He'd backlash the backlash.

"Trouble with Tom is that the ban-the-bomb liberals don't like him. Or maybe that's in his favor, too. I mustn't get too sophisticated.

"Anyway, what's left? Pat Brown of California? But he can't even control Big Daddy Unruh when it comes to nominating a Senator. People might think his image is too weak. Mayor Bob Wagner of New York? Good man, but who loves the Big Town these days. It's where the Eastern Establishment sits.

Realizes that the surest way of making and keeping friends is to be the kind of person it is fun to be with.

Expects no reward for doing "the right thing," except the feeling of satisfaction and self-respect the act itself brings.

Realizes that a situation that can't be changed must eventually be accepted—the quicker, the better.

Says to herself when she has made a mistake: "That's ONE mistake I'll never make again," and then stops worrying about it.

Realizes that in friendship it is as important to let the other person do things for you as to be willing to do things for the other person.

Never feels that she wishes she could keep her children little and dependent always—but takes pleasure and pride in each step they take toward complete independence.

Laughs first when she finds herself in a funny or awkward situation.

Figures that other people will realize her shortcomings and faults without being told about them.

Is quick to apologize when she is in the wrong.

Resists the urge to confide all personal troubles to her closest friends.

Makes her compliments discriminating and subtle enough to mean something.

Talks more about the things she likes than the things she "can't stand."

Makes a habit of looking directly at the person with whom she is conversing.

SIGNAL THAT TURN!

Anyone who has paid even casual attention to driving habits knows that plain carelessness is responsible for many near accidents and who knows how many that actually happen. This is not the same as ineptitude—lack of skill, faulty judgment, and so on. What we have in mind is the sloppy handling of a car that comes from simple failure to stay alert and keep an eye out for the other fellow.

Sometimes carelessness is a momentary thing; sometimes it grows habitual. One of the most dangerous habits, and one of the easiest to fall into, is that of not using the turn signal. The driver with this fault may suddenly drift over into the next lane without signalling, to the consternation of the man behind. Or he may, in extreme cases, sweep around corners without a flicker. However it manifests itself, the failure to let others know what you're going to do is a prime accident cause.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Carl Rowan, director of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), and Parker May, assistant operations director, had a few bad moments at the hands of Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., during the House Appropriations Subcommittee hearings on USIA's 1965 budget.

Particularly galling to Rooney was USIA's policy of providing subscriptions to American magazines for overseas personnel. Here's how the dialogue went:

ROONEY: Where'd this one subscription to "American Hairdresser" go?

MAY: An overseas information center.

ROONEY: Whose wife was it who wanted that?

MAY: This was for the use of the information center.

ROONEY: You look at me when you say that as though you really believed it, Mr. May.

MAY: Yes, sir, I do.

ROONEY: I also see that you have quite a few of the boys reading "Esquire" this year.

ROWAN: That's a good intellectual magazine these days, Mr. Chairman.

ROONEY: Just don't try to slip "Playboy" by us in the future.

THE LOUISANA political dynasty founded by former Sen. Huey "Kingfish" Long is still going strong despite the recent primary defeat of incumbent Democrat Rep. Gillis W. Long.

Gillis was downed by his cousin, Speedy O. Long, even though he had the support of another cousin, the state's junior senator, Russell Long.

Says one Louisiana political observer:

"All it takes to get elected in Louisiana is the name Long — and there's a six months' waiting list in the name-change courts."

AT THE RECENT National Conservative Conference in Chicago, a New Jersey delegate excitedly told of his organization's campaign to embarras their state's Sen. Clifford Case, a liberal Republican.

"We got everybody to send the senator a screw driver," he said. "Enclosed were the instructions, "Please use this to unscrew your desk and move it over to the Democratic side of the chamber where it properly belongs.'

"He got over 500 screw drivers in one day. We called it 'National Screw Driver Day.'"

Sen. Case's Washington office, however, reveals that the results were not quite that spectacular.

"As of this date," an aide reports, "we've received exactly 16 screw drivers. Sen. Case was elected in 1960 with a plurality of 332,447 — largest in the history of the state.

"We figure the Conservative Council has to get only 332,431 more voters to change their minds now."

And the 16 screw drivers?

"We're sending them to a vovational school," says the aide, "where they can be used for 'constructive' purpose.'"

COMMENTING on the recent proposal to make election day a national holiday, Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., says:

"Its purpose is to increase voter participation. But with holiday traveling so extensive these days, it's likely the biggest returns would be for the vacation resorts."

It will be equipped to handle any type of medical or surgical energency.

An outside telephone will be available for patients coming to the office at night, Sundays, or holidays when no doctor would ordinarily be at their office. Patients should first call the office before leaving home in order to avoid delay in seeing a doctor.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 8, 1964

SENATOR ENGLE

Quite aside from its political implications, the death of Sen. Clair Engle of California evokes deep regret and sober thought. His case was a classic example of the man stricken by a wholly unexpected catastrophe. It was a reminder of how fate or accident, call it what you will, can step in to decide the course of a man's career and of his very life.

The tragedy was all the more poignant because Senator Engle had notably been a man of fire and zest. The piteous spectacle he presented in his last appearances on the floor of the Senate, after twice having undergone brain surgery, was as different as could be from his customary behavior prior to his illness. He had been so well known for energy and forthright speech that his colleagues had jocularly called him "the only active volcano in Congress."

It came as a profound shock, therefore, when Senator Engle suddenly found his speech and motor control impaired. Two operations failed to cure him. His tragic experience, now ended in death, affords another disturbing glimpse of the uncertainty of the human condition.

NO ELIMINATION BOUTS

Most boxing fans seem to like the idea of elimination bouts as prelude to a crack at the championship. This applies in spades to the heavyweight title. The practice of more or less automatic return bouts is, for excellent reasons, not generally favored.

This comes irritatingly to mind, now that Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston have agreed to a return bout to contest the title that Liston gave up so easily. There's the rub in this case. Liston, bothered by a painful shoulder, relinquished his crown to the young challenger by just not responding to the seventh-round bell.

There also is the fact that, as a big shareholder in Sports International, Liston had had a part in a pre-fight agreement that this outfit could promote the next championsip bout and pick the challenger. Even though Liston has sold his shares, the present return bout arrangment does not set well with the public.

All in all, the fans would have been better pleased to see Clay take on some other contender. Their feelings are justified. Liston should have fought at least a couple of elimination bouts to prove his right to challenge the titleholder.

Anyone who has paid even casual attention to driving habits knows that plain carelessness is responsible for many near accidents and who knows how many that actually happen. This is not the same as ineptitude—lack of skill, faulty judgment, and so on. What we have in mind is the sloppy handling of a car that comes from simple failure to stay alert and keep an eye out for the other fellow.

Sometimes carelessness is a momentary thing; sometimes it grows habitual. One of the most dangerous habits, and one of the easiest to fall into, is that of not using the turn signal. The driver with this fault may suddenly drift over into the next lane without signalling, to the consternation of the man behind. Or he may, in extreme cases, sweep around corners without a flicker. However it manifests itself, the failure to let others know what you're going to do is a prime accident cause.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Carl Rowan, director of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), and Parker May, assistant operations director, had a few bad moments at the hands of Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., during the House Appropriations Subcommittee hearings on USIA's 1965 budget.

Particularly galling to Rooney was USIA's policy of providing subscriptions to American magazines for overseas personnel. Here's how the dialogue went:

ROONEY: Where'd this one subscription to "American Hairdresser" go?

MAY: An overseas information center.

ROONEY: Whose wife was it who wanted that?

MAY: This was for the use of the information center.

ROONEY: You look at me when you say that as though you really believed it, Mr. May.

MAY: Yes, sir, I do.

ROONEY: I also see that you have quite a few of the boys reading "Esquire" this year.

ROWAN: That's a good intellectual magazine these days, Mr. Chairman.

ROONEY: Just don't try to slip "Playboy" by us in the future.

THE LOUISANA political dynasty founded by former Sen. Huey "Kingfish" Long is still going strong despite the recent primary defeat of incumbent Democrat Rep. Gillis W. Long.

Gillis was downed by his cousin, Speedy O. Long, even though he had the support of another cousin, the state's junior senator, Russell Long.

Says one Louisiana political observer:

"All it takes to get elected in Louisiana is the name Long — and there's a six months' waiting list in the name-change courts."

AT THE RECENT National Conservative Conference in Chicago, a New Jersey delegate excitedly told of his organization's campaign to embarras their state's Sen. Clifford Case, a liberal Republican.

"We got everybody to send the senator a screw driver," he said. "Enclosed were the instructions, 'Please use this to unscrew your desk and move it over to the Democratic side of the chamber where it properly belongs.'

"He got over 500 screw drivers in one day. We called it 'National Screw Driver Day.'"

Sen. Case's Washington office, however, reveals that the results were not quite that spectacular.

"As of this date," an aide reports, "we've received exactly 16 screw drivers. Sen. Case was elected in 1960 with a plurality of 332,447 — largest in the history of the state.

"We figure the Conservative Council has to get only 332,431 more voters to change their minds now."

And the 16 screw drivers?

"We're sending them to a vocational school," says the aide, "where they can be used for 'constructive' purpose.'"

COMMENTING on the recent proposal to make election day a national holiday, Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., says:

"Its purpose is to increase voter participation. But with holiday traveling so extensive these days, it's likely the biggest returns would be for the vacation resorts."

It will be equipped to handle any type of medical or surgical energency.

An outside telephone will be available for patients coming to the office at night, Sundays, or holidays when no doctor would ordinarily be at their office. Patients should first call the office before leaving home in order to avoid delay in seeing a doctor.

Rocky Still Hopes To Steer Barry On Moderate Line

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is going to make another attempt to steer Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater toward a more "moderate" policy line, sources close to Rockefeller say.

Meanwhile, the governor is withholding any commitment to campaign personally for the Goldwater-Miller ticket, either within or outside New York State.

Awaits Unity Parley

Rockefeller's public position, a spokesman said Friday, is that he is standing by his oft-repeated pledge to support the party's national ticket.

The word "support" cannot, however, be translated into campaign speaking appearances in behalf of Goldwater, said Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert L. McManus. He said Rockefeller had no such plans at this time.

Sources close to the governor said Rockefeller would await the outcome of next Wednesday's GOP "unity conference" at Hershey, Pa., before deciding what role to take in the presidential campaign.

The sources said Rockefeller was withholding a statement on his personal plans in order to use it as a bargaining device at Hershey. His object will be to persuade Goldwater to take a more moderate approach during the campaign, it was said.

Goldwater invited Republican governors and gubernatorial candidates to the meeting to promote party unity behind his candidacy.

Goal Is to Heal Wounds

A primary objective is to heal wounds inflicted during recent clashes between the so-called "moderate" wing of the party and the Goldwater - led conservative elements.

Rockefeller spearheaded an unsuccessful fight to remodel the party's platform along more liberal lines at the GOP national convention in San Francisco. He was booed during his only speaking appearance when he attempted to insert a platform plank denouncing "extremism."

The governor later congratulated Goldwater on winning the nomination and said he stood by his pre-convention promise to support the ticket. But he subsequently issued a strong statement criticizing Goldwater for what was intepreted as a defense of "extremism" in the nominee's acceptance speech.

The World's Week

zona, vacationing at Newport Beach, Calif., and received his endorsement, as Republican presidential nominee, for what he planned to do.

At 11:30 p.m. Tuesday he entered the Fish Room of the White House where television cameras had been set up. He had waited until that hour presumably to receive confirmation that the U.S. counterstrike was in progress. Then, in solemn and deliberate tones, he outlined what had happened — describing the attacks on the U.S. destroyers as "open aggression on the high seas" — and told his countrymen he had ordered the retaliatory strike which was limited and, he said, fitting.

Friday, resolutions by both houses of Congress overwhelmingly gave the President a vote of confidence in the Viet Nam-Southeast Asia crisis.

Strategists Wonder

At week's end American strategists still were wondering why it all had happened. The Communist Viet Cong had been making distressingly good progress in its guerrilla war in South Viet Nam. Why this strange adventure on the seas? A possible reason was to test U.S. determination in its avowed goal of keeping South Viet Nam free. If that were the case, the U.S. action left little doubt of its intent.

Another surprise was what State Department officials considered the mild reaction of the Soviet Union, now at ideological odds with Communist China. Red China's reaction was not so mild: Peking said the United States had gone "over the brink of war."

The U.S. government — this time the FBI — was involved in another dramatic move last week.

Early Tuesday morning, a bulldozer which had been rented in Jackson, Miss., six days earlier began clearing a rough path through the scraggly underbrush on the old John Townsend place a few hundred yards west of State Highway 21 five miles southwest of Philadelphia, Miss.

At noon a crane rumbled up the road, lumbered into a pasture between two hills to the center of a 25-foot-high earthen levee being built to collect water for a stock tank, and began digging with its huge bucket at a precise spot at the base of the dam.

20 Feet Down—3 Bodies

Twenty feet down three bodies were discovered, placed in black plastic bags marked X1, X2 and X3, and sent in an ambulance to the University of Mississippi Medical Center where pathologists and FBI identification experts were waiting.

From dental charts, fingerprints and other evidence the FBI confirmed what it apparently had known all the time: the bodies were those of three young men who had been missing and presumed dead for six weeks.

Michael H. Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James E. Chaney, the latter a Negro, were among the first contingent of 450 students and others engaged in a summer voter-registration campaign among Mississippi Negroes. Schwerner, 24, and Goodman, 20 were from New York; Chaney was from Meridian, Miss.

The three had been arrested for speeding June 21, jailed, then released at 10:30 p.m. after Chaney posted $20 bond. Two days later their blue station wagon was found burned in the Bogue Chitto swamp 10 miles north of Philadelphia.

The search that followed involved local officials, 400 sailors, the FBI, civilian volunteers, and brought to the scene former CIA Director Allen W. Dulles and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

By week's end the FBI hadn't divulged its source of information on the location of the graves, but would not deny persistent rumors that a reward of from $25,000 to $30,000 had been offered, and someone talked.

FBI activity wasn't confined to Mississippi last week. In Georgia, federal agents arrested four men identified as Ku Klux Klansmen in the shotgun slaying July 11 of a Negro educator, Lemuel A. Penn of Washington, D.C. He was killed while returning in his car from Army Reserve training at Ft. Benning.

But violence remained centered in the North last week. There were three nights of rioting in Jersey City, N.J. — the same pattern experienced earlier in Harlem and Rochester.

There also was good news in last week's headlines.

The unemployment rate dropped below 5 per cent for the first time in more than four years; nine miners were hauled safely from the collapsed chambers of a limestone mine in Champagnole, France; the last of three Texas Tower radar stations was destroyed with a splash and a roar drowned out only by the cheers of every man who ever served aboard the shaky things; the moon pictures turned out so good scientists can pick out items smaller than a breadbox — and a California court ruled that a man whose credit card was stolen wasn't responsible for the $1,622.99 tab the thief rolled up.

Viet Issue . . .

nee, Rep. William E. Miller, kicks off his campaign the next day in his upstate New York congressional district.

Burch said Goldwater's national campaign will follow the format of his successful primary campaign in California: "big meetings, big television and pretty big issues."

After Goldwater's campaign opening in Arizona, Burch said, the senator may follow up with a foray into California.

"If you don't carry California," Burch said, "you have to carry three states you hadn't planned on."

Other big states where "you've got to go regardless of what the polls say" are Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Texas, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, Burch said.

In other developments:

— Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who ran Gov. William W. Scranton's unsuccessful drive for the party's presidential nomination, announced he would support Goldwater.

— Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle and Clare Booth Luce, a former congresswoman and ambassador to Italy, were named to head a national citizens for Goldwater-Miller committee.

— The chairmen of state GOP committees are being summoned to Washington for a conference with Goldwater next Saturday.

— Burch said Goldwater will meet with business and industrial leaders in New York Aug. 24.

— In Albany, N.Y., a spokesman for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Rockefeller has no plans to campaign personally for the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

— Goldwater pledged to go along with the party's farm plank in campaigning in the prairie states.

Rainmaker . . .

pour made little impression on the rain situation and farmers reported no damage from the hail.

Ulster County was greeted with a downpour about 7 this morning, but that proved brief. Brown Station at Ashokan Reservoir recorded 0.04 inches of rain, but that was the first appreciable rainfall of the month and did little to help the parched farmlands.

The last appreciable rainfall recorded at the Higland Water Plant was registered after a 45-minute downpour last Tuesday. That too, failed to be of any advantage to farmer and fruit growers as the drying conditions prevailed throughout the remainder of the week.

The Ulster County generators were set up at Minnewaska, Mohonk, Washingtonville and Hurley. Dutchess and Columbia counties started in the rain stimulation program at midweek.

Some two to three inches of rain reportedly fell during a 20-day rainmaking program earlier this summer in Saratoga, Montgomery and Washington and parts of Rensselaer counties where the Howell firm was hired.

VOLS' CONVENTION OFFICIALS—Officials and hosts of the 29th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association include (l-r) Mayor Henry DuBois of New Paltz, who was elected Friday night to his 21st term as treasurer; Domenick Costantino, Highland, newly-elected president; Herbert F. Faurote, Bloomington, outgoing president; Charles Peterson, convention chairman and Frederick C. Harder, elected to his 23rd successive term as secretary. Harder has been president of Weiner Hose Co. No. 6 of Kingston for 32 years. Rodney DuBois, a member of Wiltwyck Hose Co., of Kingston, not present for the photo, was elected first vice-president. As a result of DuBois' election, the 1966 convention will be held in Kingston with DuBois moving up to president in that year. Last night's election took place at Bloomington Firehouse during the second of the three-day convention schedule. Today's parade in Rosendale at 5 p. m. concludes the 1964 agenda. (Freeman photo)

Dr. Maxcy Will Retire 16th as PotsdamEducator

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP) — A versatile career that has embraced teaching, coaching, stunt flying, and newspaper correspondence, will come to a close on Aug. 16 for Dr. John Wesley Maxcy.

One of the North Country's most popular figures, "Maxcy will retire as long-time chairman of the department of health and physical education at the State University College at Potsdam. He has taught physical education to more than half of the college's 10,000 alumni.

Maxcy came to the former Potsdam Normal School as coach in 1920. He organized a girl's basketball team in 1922, and two of his teams were undefeated and won the Eastern States championship.

During World War I, Maxcy was flight instructor in aerobatics at Barron Field, Fort Worth, Tex., and test pilot for the Army Air Service at Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla. Noted for his daring stunt flying, he starred with the Midwest Victory Loan Flying Circus, cutting sky capers with U. S., British, French, and captured German war - planes.

Maxcy never really quit flying, and in World War II he commanded the North Country Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, receiving citations. He piloted a plane as recently as June 28 at Massena.

He has been Potsdam "stringer" for several newspapers.

Senate Approves

cording to the Associated Press.

If the House does not approve the Senate figure a joint committee will be appointed to work out a compromise.

The second appropriation for the Rosendale project equivocates the figure Congressman J. Ernest Wharton (R.), 28th District said was the estimate by the U. S. Corps of Engineers to efficiently initiate and complete reconstruction planning in the fiscal year 1964.

The first $100,000 appropriation was approved in the Senate last December and funds were made available 30 days after the President signed the bill.

The Rosendale program involves Rondout Creek between LeFever Falls and the Route 32 in the Village of Rosendale. In the township, the project would eliminate the north channel around Ackerman Island and would widen and deepen the south channel. It would also do away with the canal at the gorge site, lower the lips of LeFever Falls and straighten out the creek between Rt. 32 bridge and the Thruway bridge.

The North Ellenville project calls for proposed construction of local protection works on the Beer Kill, Fantine Kill and Noeth Gully.

The Hudson River appropriation, according to Bernhardt S. Kramer, administrative assistant to Congressman Wharton, is for continuing dredging and other improvement work on the river.

Meeting Pushes

Last June 23, Kennedy said he would not be a senatorial candidate.

On July 30, President Johnson announced that no member of his cabinet would be considered as his running mate.

Influential New York Democrats, seeking an opponent for incumbent Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, urged Kennedy to reconsider.

Kennedy apparently has the support of such Democratic leaders as Peter Crotty of Erie County, Stanley Steingut of Brooklyn, Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx, and John F. English of Nassau County.

With the exception of English, all are political opponents of Wagner.

Political observers, while believing that Kennedy might make a good run for the nomination with the support he already has, do not think he would become a candidate without the open endorsement of Wagner.

quarters, 1,276 fire calls were received and dispatched and 107 mutual aid calls were reported.

Snyder urged all company officials to abide by orders to report to Mutual Aid all test calls sounded on sirens throughout the county.

Gets Badge From Finch

James Hicks, chairman of the Fire Prevention Commitee, expressed appreciation to all members for their cooperation, and he said that the first Sunday of each annual Fire Prevention Week will be observed as Memorial Day for departed fire fighters, and he suggested that fitting ceremonies be conducted.

Association Director Morton Finch, chairman, presented retiring president Faurote with a past president's badge and complimented him for his excellent leadership in the past year.

On recommendation of the board of directors the delegates gave Faurote and Charles Peterson, co-chairman of the 1964 convention committee, a rising vote of thanks in recognition of the efforts in making this year's event the largest ever held by the association.

The three-day convention concludes today with the parade which promises to be the largest ever held in this area. The marchers will form in Parkcrest Estates. Apparatus will be judged before the parade in formation areas on James Street, the committee said.

1.6 Mile Parade

At 4:45 p. m. the siren on the Rosendale firehouse will sound the alert signal, and five minutes later the siren will blast the signal for the step-off of the 1.6 mile parade.

The parade will proceed west along James Street to Main, east on Main to Route 32, south on Route 32 to Sportsmen's Park Field where it will disband and refreshments will be served.

The reviewing stand will be in front of Rosendale Firehouse. Barry Purcell of Bloomington is parade chairman. Maurice Cookston, Rosendale, is in charge of the traffic detail, and Herman Miller of Cottekill will head up the parade refreshment committee.

Hosts for the three-day parley are the Binnewater, Bloomington, High Falls, Cottekill and Rosendale fire companies.

The parade will be held rain or shine.

Turk Planes . . .

sia said the ship had been hit.

Gunfire continued in the rugged mountains and along the coast north of Nicosia and the Turkish Cypriots evacuated their women and children from villages in the area. About 200 Turkish Cypriots took refuge at an encampment of Swedish U.N. troops.

Since the fighting began in the rugged Tylleria Promontory Wednesday night, 12 Greek and two Turkish Cypriots have been killed and 15 Greek and 10 Turkish Cypriots wounded, according to unofficial estimates.

The United States has been struggling for months to prevent a clash over Cyprus between Greece and Turkey, both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on its vital eastern flank.

At Tense Point

Greek military sources in Athens said the crisis looks worse than at any time since Greek and Turkish Cypriots first tangled last December over an attempt by the government of President Makarios to end the Turkish minority's legislative veto.

In the capital of Nicosia, gunfire crackled early today, hours after the Greek Cypriot government complained of the alleged fighter attack. Some Greek Cypriot sources said that Turkey had ordered its American-made Sabre jets to fire on Polis in retaliation for a reported attack by two Greek Cypriot patrol boats on the Turkish Cypriot villages of Mansoura and Kokkina earlier Friday.

Casual Conversationalist

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) —Police investigated a woman's report that she saw a man's body lying in a public phone booth.

They found a man lying on his back in the booth—his feet in the air—having a phone conversation.

At police request, he stood up to finish his talk.

Grandmother of JFK Dies at 98

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, grandmother of the late President John F. Kennedy, died today. She was 98.

The widow of a onetime Boston mayor, she watched the inauguration and other major events in the career of President Kennedy on television.

On election day in 1960 she was recovering from illness but followed the results on TV. She said then of the newly-elected President: "I did all I could for him with prayer; he'll be a wonderful president because he is a wonderful man."

President Kennedy visited his grandmother in 1962 when he came to Boston to vote.

In mid-summer of 1963 she happily posed for news photographers amid a family group that included 10 of her 39 great-grandchildren.

On her 97th birthday — Oct. 31, 1962—she attended Mass at the home of her son, Thomas A. Fitzgerald. Her nephew, the Rev. John F. Fitzgerald, celebrated the Mass, and the President's mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, visited her.

The former Josephine Mary Hannon, she was born in Acton, Mass. She was married there in 1889 to the man who later was mayor of Boston.

They had six children, including, Rose, the late President's mother.

Barbara Vernon, 18, of West Hurley, passenger in the Ostrander car, was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of left knee and elbow sprains.

State Police at Lake Katrine substation issued Knutch a summons for failure to yield right of way. They said Knutch pulled from a private driveway across Rt. 212 to enter Rt. 32 while Ostrander was traveling west on Rt. 212. Troopers said that Ostrander swerved to the right to avoid striking the Knutch vehicle but was unable to avoid a collision. The Knutch car then skidded sideways and struck a parked car owned by William Schoonmaker, of Malden-on-Hudson, troopers said.

Troopers Charles Searls and Anthony Turck investigated.

Joshua Ulett, 45, of Box 479, Rt. 4, Kingston, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated after a two-car collision about 9:15 Friday night on the Mountain Road, Eddyville. He posted $25 bail for his appearance at 7 p. m. Monday before Peace Justice Alton Boice, Town of Hurley.

State Police at Lake Katrine said Ulett was driving west on Mountain Road when his car sideswiped a car driven east on the same road by Wayne J. Robb, 30, of Box 41, Rt. 4, Kingston.

Trooper David Wachtel investigated.

Two motorists escaped injury in a two-car mishap Friday on Rt. 28 at the Thruway traffic circle.

Trooper William Weidemann said Eleanor Caruso, 27, of Box 8, Mt. Pleasant, was driving east around the traffic circle when her car was in collision with one operated by Martha Skea, 50, of Box 474, Rt. 1, West Hurley from the passing lane.

In another accident Friday, Robert Santorski, 8, of 95 Miller's Lane, suffered left leg injuries when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven north on Miller's Lane near Moutain View Avenue by William J. McNamara, 27, of 107A Fairmont Avenue. Police said the youth drove the bike out of Mt. View Avenue.

Patrolmen Junious Harris and Ernest Bartroff investigated.

Police Seek Driver Of Hit-Run Vehicle

Area police were looking today for the driver of a late model car reportedly involved in a hit and run accident early today on Partition Street in Saugerties.

Chief Harold Mills said a car owned by Arthur J. Sharrett, of 213 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, and operated by Gail A. Sharrett, 21, same address, was struck in the rear by another car about 2:10 a. m. He said Miss Sharrett and the other unidentified driver got out of their vehicles and agreed to drive to police headquarters to report the accident. Instead, Miss Sharrett told police, the other car turned around and drove off in the other driection.

Chief Mills said the car had been identified as a 1962 Mercury.

Action Taken

Department superintendent recommended that the board study the possibility of tapping the Hudson River and construction of a filtration plant which he said would cost approximately $150,000.

Cost of piping to the river would not be a factor as the water system has lines almost to the water front in Glasco.

Cites Port Ewen

The successful tapping of the Hudson by Port Ewen Water District was cited as an example.

During drought conditions it has been necessary to place a ban in Glasco Water District on unnecessary use of water such as car washing, garden sprinkling and filling of swimming pools in order to keep up the level of the supply in the Glasco standpipe.

Glasco Water District which supplies most of Barclay Heights and its developments, purchases its water from Saugerties and is limited to 300,000 gallons daily.

The Village of Saugerties water source is the Blue Mountain Reservoir which at maximum level has a 12 million gallon capacity. The village is limited to 1,800,000 gallons daily due to a riparian rights court decision with that restriction to guarantee a flow of water over the Blue Mountain Reservoir dam to property owners downstream.

Receives Petition

In other business, the board received a petition with 35 signitures of property owners in the vicinity of Mt. View Avenue, Barclay Heights, presented by the law firm of Francello and Brinnier.

The petition is addressed to Simmons Plaza Inc., and copies were sent to the Town Board, Ulster County Health Department, State Health Department and Federal Housing Authority.

The petition requests immediate conference with those involved to find a solution to a pollution and unhealthful problem to avoid court proceedings.

In the petition the resident signers request steps be taken to rectify obnoxious conditions which are detrimental to the health and welfare of the citizens in the area. The conditions being pollution of air and water from the emission of noxious fumes.

Emits Obnoxious Fumes

The source, the petition states is adjacent to 21 Mt. View Avenue and consists of apparent pollution of water flowing from an open drainage pipe into a steam. The pipe emits obnoxious fumes and the water flowing from the stream is discolored and appears polluted. It comes from land to the east owned by Dutch Settlement and Simmons Plaza Inc., the petition states.

The Town Board referred the matter of Ulster County Health Department.

Moro Wards Off Tieup

The Communist-led General Confederation of Italian Labor Friday night called off its scheduled strike set for Aug. 8-10. It said an agreement, also supported by non - Communist unions, had been reached on workers' demands for higher fringe benefits.

Thanks Friend For Lift, Takes Life in Creek

An elderly man died, apparently a suicide by drowning, shortly after he reportedly dove into the Rondout Creek about 9:30 a. m. today on The Freeman dock off Ferry Street.

Only minutes before he had thanked a friend for giving him a lift by car from Port Ewen to visit friends in The Freeman office.

The victim was identified as Salvatore Ferraro, 63, of West Hoyt Street, Port Ewen. He was pronounced dead in Benedictine Hospital where he was taken by Doctors ambulance. Ferraro reportedly had been despondent over poor health.

Fire fighters recovered Ferraro's body about an hour after he was seen jumping head first into the water. Deputy Fire Chief Glyn Southard applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

By a strange coincidence, Ferraro reportedly was seen jumping into the creek by a friend, John Steinhilber, of Box 563, Port Ewen, who only minutes before had left Ferraro off at The Freeman office after giving him a ride from Salem Street in that village. Steinhilber told The Freeman he was returning to Port Ewen over the Rondout Creek bridge when he glanced over his shoulder toward The Freeman dock where he thought he saw the man dive into the water. He returned to the Kingston side and notified police.

Police said that upon their arrival, two men were swimming in the water apparently in search of the body. They were identified as Charles Ardy, of 600 West 150th Street, New York City, an engineer, and John Lowell, a fireman, of 24-27 97th Street, East Elmhurst, L. I. They were unsuccessful in their search.

Truck One responded to the scene with grappling hooks, followed by Union Hose 4. Shortly after, Fireman Russell Kahrs located the body with a pike pole. He recovered the body with Firemen Leo Landerway and Walter Miller using grappling hooks. Ferraro's body was found about 15 feet from where he jumped.

A priest was summoned to administer last rites.

Detectives Howard DeGraff and Wilmot Hall and Patrolman Lewis Keator investigated for police, as far as could be ascertained, Ferraro never entered The Freeman office.

Rocky Still Hopes To Steer Barry On Moderate Line

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is going to make another attempt to steer Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater toward a more "moderate" policy line, sources close to Rockefeller say.

Meanwhile, the governor is withholding any commitment to campaign personally for the Goldwater-Miller ticket, either within or outside New York State.

Awaits Unity Parley

Rockefeller's public position, a spokesman said Friday, is that he is standing by his oft-repeated pledge to support the party's national ticket.

The word "support" cannot, however, be translated into campaign speaking appearances in behalf of Goldwater, said Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert L. McManus. He said Rockefeller had no such plans at this time.

Sources close to the governor said Rockefeller would await the outcome of next Wednesday's GOP "unity conference" at Hershey, Pa., before deciding what role to take in the presidential campaign.

The sources said Rockefeller was withholding a statement on his personal plans in order to use it as a bargaining device at Hershey. His object will be to persuade Goldwater to take a more moderate approach during the campaign, it was said.

Goldwater invited Republican governors and gubernatorial candidates to the meeting to promote party unity behind his candidacy.

Goal Is to Heal Wounds

A primary objective is to heal wounds inflicted during recent clashes between the so-called "moderate" wing of the party and the Goldwater - led conservative elements.

Rockefeller spearheaded an unsuccessful fight to remodel the party's platform along more liberal lines at the GOP national convention in San Francisco. He was booed during his only speaking appearance when he attempted to insert a platform plank denouncing "extremism."

The governor later congratulated Goldwater on winning the nomination and said he stood by his pre-convention promise to support the ticket. But he subsequently issued a strong statement criticizing Goldwater for what was intepreted as a defense of "extremism" in the nominee's acceptance speech.

The World's Week

zona, vacationing at Newport Beach, Calif., and received his endorsement, as Republican presidential nominee, for what he planned to do.

At 11:30 p.m. Tuesday he entered the Fish Room of the White House where television cameras had been set up. He had waited until that hour presumably to receive confirmation that the U.S. counterstrike was in progress. Then, in solemn and deliberate tones, he outlined what had happened — describing the attacks on the U.S. destroyers as "open aggression on the high seas" — and told his countrymen he had ordered the retaliatory strike which was limited and, he said, fitting.

Friday, resolutions by both houses of Congress overwhelmingly gave the President a vote of confidence in the Viet Nam-Southeast Asia crisis.

Strategists Wonder

At week's end American strategists still were wondering why it all had happened. The Communist Viet Cong had been making distressingly good progress in its guerrilla war in South Viet Nam. Why this strange adventure on the seas? A possible reason was to test U.S. determination in its avowed goal of keeping South Viet Nam free. If that were the case, the U.S. action left little doubt of its intent.

Another surprise was what State Department officials considered the mild reaction of the Soviet Union, now at ideological odds with Communist China. Red China's reaction was not so mild: Peking said the United States had gone "over the brink of war."

The U.S. government — this time the FBI — was involved in another dramatic move last week.

Early Tuesday morning, a bulldozer which had been rented in Jackson, Miss., six days earlier began clearing a rough path through the scraggly underbrush on the old John Townsend place a few hundred yards west of State Highway 21 five miles southwest of Philadelphia, Miss.

At noon a crane rumbled up the road, lumbered into a pasture between two hills to the center of a 25-foot-high earthen levee being built to collect water for a stock tank, and began digging with its huge bucket at a precise spot at the base of the dam.

20 Feet Down—3 Bodies

Twenty feet down three bodies were discovered, placed in black plastic bags marked X1, X2 and X3, and sent in an ambulance to the University of Mississippi Medical Center where pathologists and FBI identification experts were waiting.

From dental charts, fingerprints and other evidence the FBI confirmed what it apparently had known all the time: the bodies were those of three young men who had been missing and presumed dead for six weeks.

Michael H. Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James E. Chaney, the latter a Negro, were among the first contingent of 450 students and others engaged in a summer voter-registration campaign among Mississippi Negroes. Schwerner, 24, and Goodman, 20 were from New York; Chaney was from Meridian, Miss.

The three had been arrested for speeding June 21, jailed, then released at 10:30 p.m. after Chaney posted $20 bond. Two days later their blue station wagon was found burned in the Bogue Chitto swamp 10 miles north of Philadelphia.

The search that followed involved local officials, 400 sailors, the FBI, civilian volunteers, and brought to the scene former CIA Director Allen W. Dulles and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

By week's end the FBI hadn't divulged its source of information on the location of the graves, but would not deny persistent rumors that a reward of from $25,000 to $30,000 had been offered, and someone talked.

FBI activity wasn't confined to Mississippi last week. In Georgia, federal agents arrested four men identified as Ku Klux Klansmen in the shotgun slaying July 11 of a Negro educator, Lemuel A. Penn of Washington, D.C. He was killed while returning in his car from Army Reserve training at Ft. Benning.

But violence remained centered in the North last week. There were three nights of rioting in Jersey City, N.J. — the same pattern experienced earlier in Harlem and Rochester.

There also was good news in last week's headlines.

The unemployment rate dropped below 5 per cent for the first time in more than four years; nine miners were hauled safely from the collapsed chambers of a limestone mine in Champagnole, France; the last of three Texas Tower radar stations was destroyed with a splash and a roar drowned out only by the cheers of every man who ever served aboard the shaky things; the moon pictures turned out so good scientists can pick out items smaller than a breadbox — and a California court ruled that a man whose credit card was stolen wasn't responsible for the $1,622.99 tab the thief rolled up.

Viet Issue . . .

nee, Rep. William E. Miller, kicks off his campaign the next day in his upstate New York congressional district.

Burch said Goldwater's national campaign will follow the format of his successful primary campaign in California: "big meetings, big television and pretty big issues."

After Goldwater's campaign opening in Arizona, Burch said, the senator may follow up with a foray into California.

"If you don't carry California," Burch said, "you have to carry three states you hadn't planned on."

Other big states where "you've got to go regardless of what the polls say" are Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Texas, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, Burch said.

In other developments:

— Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who ran Gov. William W. Scranton's unsuccessful drive for the party's presidential nomination, announced he would support Goldwater.

— Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle and Clare Booth Luce, a former congresswoman and ambassador to Italy, were named to head a national citizens for Goldwater-Miller committee.

— The chairmen of state GOP committees are being summoned to Washington for a conference with Goldwater next Saturday.

— Burch said Goldwater will meet with business and industrial leaders in New York Aug. 24.

— In Albany, N.Y., a spokesman for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Rockefefeller has no plans to campaign personally for the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

— Goldwater pledged to go along with the party's farm plank in campaigning in the prairie states.

Rainmaker . . .

pour made little impression on the rain situation and farmers reported no damage from the hail.

Ulster County was greeted with a downpour about 7 this morning, but that proved brief. Brown Station at Ashokan Reservoir recorded 0.04 inches of rain, but that was the first appreciable rainfall of the month and did little to help the parched farmlands.

The last appreciable rainfall recorded at the Higland Water Plant was registered after a 45-minute downpour last Tuesday. That too, failed to be of any advantage to farmer and fruit growers as the drying conditions prevailed throughout the remainder of the week.

The Ulster County generators were set up at Minnewaska, Mohonk, Washingtonville and Hurley. Dutchess and Columbia counties started in the rain stimulation program at midweek.

Some two to three inches of rain reportedly fell during a 20-day rainmaking program earlier this summer in Saratoga, Montgomery and Washington and parts of Rensselaer counties where the Howell firm was hired.

VOLS' CONVENTION OFFICIALS—Officials and hosts of the 29th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association include (l-r) Mayor Henry DuBois of New Paltz, who was elected Friday night to his 21st term as treasurer; Domenick Costantino, Highland, newly-elected president; Herbert F. Faurote, Bloomington, outgoing president; Charles Peterson, convention chairman and Frederick C. Harder, elected to his 23rd successive term as secretary. Harder has been president of Weiner Hose Co. No. 6 of Kingston for 32 years. Rodney DuBois, a member of Wiltwyck Hose Co., of Kingston, not present for the photo, was elected first vice-president. As a result of DuBois' election, the 1966 convention will be held in Kingston with DuBois moving up to president in that year. Last night's election took place at Bloomington Firehouse during the second of the three-day convention schedule. Today's parade in Rosendale at 5 p. m. concludes the 1964 agenda. (Freeman photo)

Dr. Maxcy Will Retire 16th as PotsdamEducator

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP) — A versatile career that has embraced teaching, coaching, stunt flying, and newspaper correspondence, will come to a close on Aug. 16 for Dr. John Wesley Maxcy.

One of the North Country's most popular figures, "Maxcy will retire as long-time chairman of the department of health and physical education at the State University College at Potsdam. He has taught physical education to more than half of the college's 10,000 alumni.

Maxcy came to the former Potsdam Normal School as coach in 1920. He organized a girl's basketball team in 1922, and two of his teams were undefeated and won the Eastern States championship.

During World War I, Maxcy was flight instructor in aerobatics at Barron Field, Fort Worth, Tex., and test pilot for the Army Air Service at Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla. Noted for his daring stunt flying, he starred with the Midwest Victory Loan Flying Circus, cutting sky capers with U. S., British, French, and captured German war - planes.

Maxcy never really quit flying, and in World War II he commanded the North Country Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, receiving citations. He piloted a plane as recently as June 28 at Massena.

He has been Potsdam "stringer" for several newspapers.

Senate Approves

cording to the Associated Press.

If the House does not approve the Senate figure a joint committee will be appointed to work out a compromise.

The second appropriation for the Rosendale project equivocates the figure Congressman J. Ernest Wharton (R.), 28th District said was the estimate by the U. S. Corps of Engineers to efficiently initiate and complete reconstruction planning in the fiscal year 1964.

The first $100,000 appropriation was approved in the Senate last December and funds were made available 30 days after the President signed the bill.

The Rosendale program involves Rondout Creek between LeFever Falls and the Route 32 in the Village of Rosendale. In the township, the project would eliminate the north channel around Ackerman Island and would widen and deepen the south channel. It would also do away with the canal at the gorge site, lower the lips of LeFever Falls and straighten out the creek between Rt. 32 bridge and the Thruway bridge.

The North Ellenville project calls for proposed construction of local protection works on the Beer Kill, Fantine Kill and Noeth Gully.

The Hudson River appropriation, according to Bernhardt S. Kramer, administrative assistant to Congressman Wharton, is for continuing dredging and other improvement work on the river.

Meeting Pushes

Last June 23, Kennedy said he would not be a senatorial candidate.

On July 30, President Johnson announced that no member of his cabinet would be considered as his running mate.

Influential New York Democrats, seeking an opponent for incumbent Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, urged Kennedy to reconsider.

Kennedy apparently has the support of such Democratic leaders as Peter Crotty of Erie County, Stanley Steingut of Brooklyn, Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx, and John F. English of Nassau County.

With the exception of English, all are political opponents of Wagner.

Political observers, while believing that Kennedy might make a good run for the nomination with the support he already has, do not think he would become a candidate without the open endorsement of Wagner.

quarters, 1,276 fire calls were received and dispatched and 107 mutual aid calls were reported.

Snyder urged all company officials to abide by orders to report to Mutual Aid all test calls sounded on sirens throughout the county.

Gets Badge From Finch

James Hicks, chairman of the Fire Prevention Commitee, expressed appreciation to all members for their cooperation, and he said that the first Sunday of each annual Fire Prevention Week will be observed as Memorial Day for departed fire fighters, and he suggested that fitting ceremonies be conducted.

Association Director Morton Finch, chairman, presented retiring president Faurote with a past president's badge and complimented him for his excellent leadership in the past year.

On recommendation of the board of directors the delegates gave Faurote and Charles Peterson, co-chairman of the 1964 convention committee, a rising vote of thanks in recognition of the efforts in making this year's event the largest ever held by the association.

The three-day convention concludes today with the parade which promises to be the largest ever held in this area. The marchers will form in Parkcrest Estates. Apparatus will be judged before the parade in formation areas on James Street, the committee said.

1.6 Mile Parade

At 4:45 p. m. the siren on the Rosendale firehouse will sound the alert signal, and five minutes later the siren will blast the signal for the step-off of the 1.6 mile parade.

The parade will proceed west along James Street to Main, east on Main to Route 32, south on Route 32 to Sportsmen's Park Field where it will disband and refreshments will be served.

The reviewing stand will be in front of Rosendale Firehouse. Barry Purcell of Bloomington is parade chairman. Maurice Cookston, Rosendale, is in charge of the traffic detail, and Herman Miller of Cottekill will head up the parade refreshment committee.

Hosts for the three-day parley are the Binnewater, Bloomington, High Falls, Cottekill and Rosendale fire companies.

The parade will be held rain or shine.

Turk Planes . . .

sia said the ship had been hit.

Gunfire continued in the rugged mountains and along the coast north of Nicosia and the Turkish Cypriots evacuated their women and children from villages in the area. About 200 Turkish Cypriots took refuge at an encampment of Swedish U.N. troops.

Since the fighting began in the rugged Tylleria Promontory Wednesday night, 12 Greek and two Turkish Cypriots have been killed and 15 Greek and 10 Turkish Cypriots wounded, according to unofficial estimates.

The United States has been struggling for months to prevent a clash over Cyprus between Greece and Turkey, both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on its vital eastern flank.

At Tense Point

Greek military sources in Athens said the crisis looks worse than at any time since Greek and Turkish Cypriots first tangled last December over an attempt by the government of President Makarios to end the Turkish minority's legislative veto.

In the capital of Nicosia, gunfire crackled early today, hours after the Greek Cypriot government complained of the alleged fighter attack. Some Greek Cypriot sources said that Turkey had ordered its American-made Sabre jets to fire on Polis in retaliation for a reported attack by two Greek Cypriot patrol boats on the Turkish Cypriot villages of Mansoura and Kokkina earlier Friday.

Casual Conversationalist

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) —Police investigated a woman's report that she saw a man's body lying in a public phone booth.

They found a man lying on his back in the booth—his feet in the air—having a phone conversation.

At police request, he stood up to finish his talk.

Grandmother of JFK Dies at 98

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, grandmother of the late President John F. Kennedy, died today. She was 98.

The widow of a onetime Boston mayor, she watched the inauguration and other major events in the career of President Kennedy on television.

On election day in 1960 she was recovering from illness but followed the results on TV. She said then of the newly-elected President: "I did all I could for him with prayer; he'll be a wonderful president because he is a wonderful man."

President Kennedy visited his grandmother in 1962 when he came to Boston to vote.

In mid-summer of 1963 she happily posed for news photographers amid a family group that included 10 of her 39 great-grandchildren.

On her 97th birthday — Oct. 31, 1962—she attended Mass at the home of her son, Thomas A. Fitzgerald. Her nephew, the Rev. John F. Fitzgerald, celebrated the Mass, and the President's mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, visited her.

The former Josephine Mary Hannon, she was born in Acton, Mass. She was married there in 1889 to the man who later was mayor of Boston.

They had six children, including, Rose, the late President's mother.

Three persons were injured in a three-car collision about 11:15 Friday night on Rt. 212 at the intersection of Rt. 32, Saugerties.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment of injuries were:

Francis Knutch, 49, of Box 125, Rt. 2, Saugerties, one of the drivers, bruised leg and finger cuts, and Richard Ostrander, 21, of 22 Mountain View, Saugerties, the other driver, right eye lid and nose cuts.

Barbara Vernon, 18, of West Hurley, passenger in the Ostrander car, was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of left knee and elbow sprains.

State Police at Lake Katrine substation issued Knutch a summons for failure to yield right of way. They said Knutch pulled from a private driveway across Rt. 212 to enter Rt. 32 while Ostrander was traveling west on Rt. 212. Troopers said that Ostrander swerved to the right to avoid striking the Knutch vehicle but was unable to avoid a collision. The Knutch car then skidded sideways and struck a parked car owned by William Schoonmaker, of Malden-on-Hudson, troopers said.

Troopers Charles Searls and Anthony Turck investigated.

Joshua Ulett, 45, of Box 479, Rt. 4, Kingston, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated after a two-car collision about 9:15 Friday night on the Mountain Road, Eddyville. He posted $25 bail for his appearance at 7 p. m. Monday before Peace Justice Alton Boice, Town of Hurley.

State Police at Lake Katrine said Ulett was driving west on Mountain Road when his car sideswiped a car driven east on the same road by Wayne J. Robb, 30, of Box 41, Rt. 4, Kingston.

Trooper David Wachtel investigated.

Two motorists escaped injury in a two-car mishap Friday on Rt. 28 at the Thruway traffic circle.

Trooper William Weidemann said Eleanor Caruso, 27, of Box 8, Mt. Pleasant, was driving east around the traffic circle when her car was in collision with one operated by Martha Skea, 50, of Box 474, Rt. 1, West Hurturn from the passing lane.

In another accident Friday, Robert Santorski, 8, of 95 Miller's Lane, suffered left leg injuries when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven north on Miller's Lane near Moutain View Avenue by William J. McNamara, 27, of 107A Fairmont Avenue. Police said the youth drove the bike out of Mt. View Avenue.

Police Seek Driver Of Hit-Run Vehicle

Area police were looking today for the driver of a late model car reportedly involved in a hit and run accident early today on Partition Street in Saugerties.

Chief Harold Mills said a car owned by Arthur J. Sharrett, of 213 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, and operated by Gail A. Sharrett, 21, same address, was struck in the rear by another car about 2:10 a. m. He said Miss Sharrett and the other unidentified driver got out of their vehicles and agreed to drive to police headquarters to report the accident. Action Taken

Department superintendent recommended that the board study the possibility of tapping the Hudson River and construction of a filtration plant which he said would cost approximately $150,000.

Cost of piping to the river would not be a factor as the water system has lines almost to the water front in Glasco.

Cites Port Ewen

The successful tapping of the Hudson by Port Ewen Water District was cited as an example.

During drought conditions it has been necessary to place a ban in Glasco Water District on unnecessary use of water such as car washing, garden sprinkling and filling of swimming pools in order to keep up the level of the supply in the Glasco standpipe.

Glasco Water District which supplies most of Barclay Heights and its developments, purchases its water from Saugerties and is limited to 300,000 gallons daily.

The Village of Saugerties water source is the Blue Mountain Reservoir which at maximum level has a 12 million gallon capacity. The village is limited to 1,800,000 gallons daily due to a riparian rights court decision with that restriction to guarantee a flow of water over the Blue Mountain Reservoir dam to property owners downstream.

Receives Petition

In other business, the board received a petition with 35 signitures of property owners in the vicinity of Mt. View Avenue, Barclay Heights, presented by the law firm of Francello and Brinnier.

The petition is addressed to Simmons Plaza Inc., and copies were sent to the Town Board, Ulster County Health Department, State Health Department and Federal Housing Authority.

The petition requests immediate conference with those involved to find a solution to a pollution and unhealthful problem to avoid court proceedings.

In the petition the resident signers request steps be taken to rectify obnoxious conditions which are detrimental to the health and welfare of the citizens in the area. The conditions being pollution of air and water from the emission of noxious fumes.

Emits Obnoxious Fumes

The source, the petition states is adjacent to 21 Mt. View Avenue and consists of apparent pollution of water flowing from an open drainage pipe into a steam. The pipe emits obnoxious fumes and the water flowing from the stream is discolored and appears polluted. It comes from land to the east owned by Dutch Settlement and Simmons Plaza Inc., the petition states.

The Town Board referred the matter of Ulster County Health Department.

Thanks Friend For Lift, Takes Life in Creek

An elderly man died, apparently a suicide by drowning, shortly after he reportedly dove into the Rondout Creek about 9:30 a. m. today on The Freeman dock off Ferry Street.

Only minutes before he had thanked a friend for giving him a lift by car from Port Ewen to visit friends in The Freeman office.

The victim was identified as Salvatore Ferraro, 63, of West Hoyt Street, Port Ewen. He was pronounced dead in Benedictine Hospital where he was taken by Doctors ambulance. Ferraro reportedly had been despondent over poor health.

Fire fighters recovered Ferraro's body about an hour after he was seen jumping head first into the water. Deputy Fire Chief Glyn Southard applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

By a strange coincidence, Ferraro reportedly was seen jumping into the creek by a friend, John Steinhilber, of Box 563, Port Ewen, who only minutes before had left Ferraro off at The Freeman office after giving him a ride from Salem Street in that village. Steinhilber told The Freeman he was returning to Port Ewen over the Rondout Creek bridge when he glanced over his shoulder toward The Freeman dock where he thought he saw the man dive into the water. He returned to the Kingston side and notified police.

Police said that upon their arrival, two men were swimming in the water apparently in search of the body. They were identified as Charles Ardy, of 600 West 150th Street, New York City, an engineer, and John Lowell, a fireman, of 24-27 97th Street, East Elmhurst, L. I. They were unsuccessful in their search.

Truck One responded to the scene with grappling hooks, followed by Union Hose 4. Shortly after, Fireman Russell Kahrs located the body with a pike pole. He recovered the body with Firemen Leo Landerway and Walter Miller using grappling hooks. Ferraro's body was found about 15 feet from where he jumped.

A priest was summoned to administer last rites.

Detectives Howard DeGraff and Wilmot Hall and Patrolman Lewis Keator investigated for police, as far as could be ascertained, Ferraro never entered The Freeman office.

Entertaining Businessmen At Lunch

Q: I am a woman executive in a fairly large company and very often it is necessary for me to take businessmen to lunch. The men always seem embarrassed to have me pay the check and often try to pick it up themselves. This creates a very awkward sistuation. Can you offer a solution to this problem?

A: The best solution would be to ask your company to open charge accounts at one or two restaurants where you can take these businessmen to lunch or get yourself a credit card, and then all you need do is sign the bill. If neither of these suggestions is possible, you can ask the waiter not to present the check at the table but to leave it for you at the cashier's desk. Or if you must pay in your guest's presence and he protests, you can explain that he is your company's guest and the amount is going on your expense account.

Removing Food From Mouth

Q: I always find it embarrasing when dining with others and happen to get a piece of tough meat or gristle in my mouth that I cannot swallow. To see someone take food from his or her mouth is nauseating but sometimes this is absolutely necessary. What is the best and most inconspicuous way to do this?

A: The least noticable way is to take it from your mouth between your thumb and forefinger with your other four fingers pressed tightly together to form a screen over the food, and remove it to your plate.

Is She Miss or Mrs.?

Q: In our files here at the office we have names of women that do not indicate whether they are Miss or Mrs. How should these women be addressed when writing to them? Would it be proper to address them without title rather than use the wrong one

A: To address them without title, would be very bad form. If there is no clue as to whether they are Miss or Mrs., you assume they are Miss and address them as such.

These inquiries have prompted the announcement of four locations today, although all members of the club also have some tickets available. It is important that tickets be obtained in advance to enable the committee to make adequate plans for the necessary food. The deadline for the purchase of tickets is next Wednesday. Final reports on ticket sales will be made at the regular Rotary Club luncheon meeting.

Tickets for the Rotary barbecue may be obtained at the office of the Agricultural Department of the Extension Service at 74 John Street; from Dr. Clement I. Angstrom at the Regional State Poultry Laboratory, 88 Prince Street; from Clare H. Buddenhagen, at Pardee's Insurance Agency, 626 Broadway or at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel Building.

The funds derived from staging the annual chicken barbecue are used by the Rotary Club to support various youth activities and community projects. All of the work is done by members of the club including the construction of the large tent and all the food preparation and serving. Co-chairmen William H. Palmer and Harry J. Beatty report "it's a wonderful sight to see 500 chickens being barbecued at one time." Although it is anticipated over 1,200 persons will be served between 4 p. m. and 7:30, there will be only a limited waiting in line at any time.

In making this announcement today it was pointed out that there would be ample time to enjoy the chicken barbecue and then attend the Patrolman's Association dance and floor show at the State Armory starting at 9 or attend the A. H. Wick's Engine Co. Bazaar on Wiltwyck Avenue at the fire station.

Anton Dvorak's charming "Humoresque, No. 7" is considered his most famous composition.

Entertaining Businessmen At Lunch

Q: I am a woman executive in a fairly large company and very often it is necessary for me to take businessmen to lunch. The men always seem embarrassed to have me pay the check and often try to pick it up themselves. This creates a very awkward sistuation. Can you offer a solution to this problem?

A: The best solution would be to ask your company to open charge accounts at one or two restaurants where you can take these businessmen to lunch or get yourself a credit card, and then all you need do is sign the bill. If neither of these suggestions is possible, you can ask the waiter not to present the check at the table but to leave it for you at the cashier's desk. Or if you must pay in your guest's presence and he protests, you can explain that he is your company's guest and the amount is going on your expense account.

Removing Food From Mouth

Q: I always find it embarrasing when dining with others and happen to get a piece of tough meat or gristle in my mouth that I cannot swallow. To see someone take food from his or her mouth is nauseating but sometimes this is absolutely necessary. What is the best and most inconspicuous way to do this?

A: The least noticable way is to take it from your mouth between your thumb and forefinger with your other four fingers pressed tightly together to form a screen over the food, and remove it to your plate.

Is She Miss or Mrs.?

Q: In our files here at the office we have names of women that do not indicate whether they are Miss or Mrs. How should these women be addressed when writing to them? Would it be proper to address them without title rather than use the wrong one

A: To address them without title, would be very bad form. If there is no clue as to whether they are Miss or Mrs., you assume they are Miss and address them as such.

Deck Provides Ideal Hideout

Did you ever long for a tiny hide-away where you could get away from the hustle and bustle of a busy family, and yet be at home?

Some architects are giving the heads of the family just such a retreat in the form of a small, screened wood - decked patio opening off the master bedroom.

The floor deck needn't be very large, just enough for a couple of easy chairs or maybe a chaise lounge for dad and mom. It needn't cost much because wood decks are simple and easily built.

To insure maximum privacy, a high wooden screen can be installed around the sides of the deck exposed to the street or to activity in the family yard.

How do you build the deck? Use a sturdy lumber like Douglas fir which will last for years when exposed to the weather. The frame should be of small timbers and the deck can be of 2x4s spaced slightly to permit runoff.

The screening fence can be any pattern desired, but a louvered pattern will give good circulation and yet provide privacy. You can use western red cedar, a lightweight wood which will last for many years.

The deck and screen need not be painted or stained, but can be allowed to weather to a soft silvery color. However, these woods will take any paint or stain with ease in case color is desired.

Tile Stairwells

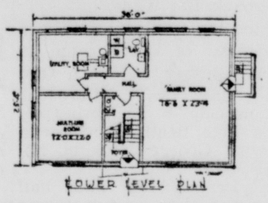

Stairwells present one of the most difficult—and dangerous—areas to paint in split-level and two-story homes. You won't ever have to tackle the job again if you surface your stairwell with ceramic tile. The many colors, sizes and patterns available in real tile will enable you to add permanent beauty to your home.

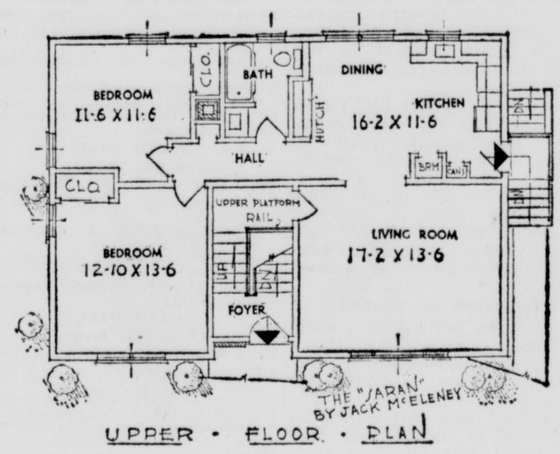

It's the Pigment

The color and hiding-power of quality paint is derived from particles of pigment. These particles are suspended in a vehicle that binds the coat of paint to a surface.

Growth Rings

The annual growth rings of a tree are what create the attractive texture and grain of wood. Softwoods like Douglas fir have defined growth rings which may range from six rings to the inch to ten or more.

Modern Level Living Is Set at Moderate Cost

(Associated Architects)

Contemporary treatment gives new expression to today's design of a split entry house. Its basic feature is simplified construction that pledges economy in initial cost and future upkeep.

The split entry prescribes a perfect combination for today's leisure living. The upper level shows two standard size bedrooms, full bath, large efficient kitchen with built-in hutch and a 17 by 13 living room. Activity reigns in the lower level. Party fun or pastime pleasures take place in the spacious family room without disruption to the upper household. Do-it-yourself enthusiasts can convert the multi-use room, if need be, to accommodate the growing family.

A plan of easy movement is carried out by a side entrance from the family room to the outdoors. This assures additional privacy to the upper level, and most important of all, it provides two exits from the basement area. It is also possible that some homeowners would consider converting the lower level into a one or two bedroom apartment for family reasons or to help with the mortgage payments. Such a conversion could materialize with the simple addition of a tub and a kitchen sink.

The basic overall measurements for the "Saran" design are 26 by 38 feet and 988 square feet of upper living area.

Uneventful Hand Played With Skill

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Augusta Cantor of New York has been a leading teacher and player for several years. She also is a good friend who is kind enough to send me an occasional hand.

2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♣ 8.

Mrs. Cantor points out that she did not try for six because she was afraid of losing two diamonds. When she looked at dummy she saw that six would make easily if East held the diamond king. Augusta decided to go after six on the assumption that West would hold the diamond king and East both the king and queen of clubs.

Her play was to duck the club opening around to her singleton nine. East won with the king and shifted to a diamond. This produced the queen, king and ace. Now Augusta drew trumps, discarded one diamond on the ace of clubs and another on the jack of clubs later on in order to make the two overtricks.

Rather uninteresting except for Augusta's final comment. She said, "I was very disappointed with the result. Everyone else who stopped at four made six also because at all those tables West led away from his king of diamonds."

She shouldn't be too disappointed. If she had risen with the ace of clubs, she would have wound up making only five for a bad score instead of six for at least an average.

Marks 10th Year

Disney Wasting No Time, Most Of Season Taped

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television producers who scurry to make deadlines could take a lesson from Walt Disney. He's three-fifths finished with his programs for the coming season, which doesn't start until Sept. 20.

Variety Continues

The 1964-65 season is a special one for Disney — his 10th. His shows, first on ABC and now in color on NBC, have always reflected taste, quality and variety. The selection next year will continue to be varied, with accent on original, multichapter films.

"Of the 25 shows, we'll have about five nature films, two feature movies, two cartoon shows and the rest three and four-part story films," said Walt. "There's a reason for doing films in three or more parts. We put more time and bigger budgets into our shows than most television producers do.

"We believe in getting more action and bigger backgrounds for our stories, not just shoot them against a wall. We can justify the expense when we use sets for three or four shows. For instance, I had a whole Philadelphia street in the '90s built for 'Gallagher,' a story about a newspaper copy boy written by Richard Harding Davis."

Walt doesn't like to be pressed by deadlines. Hence 15 of the year's product of 24 hours is filmed.

Even Working on 65-66

"And we've got nature photographers out in the field shooting subjects for 1965 and 1966," he added.

As host of the series, Walt must spend some of his time as an actor. "There's some ham in all of us," he admitted. "I can shoot about five introductions in a day, and I find the work fun. It gives me a chance to get away from everything else for a day."

He tries to work animals into his act, and the results are often unexpected. For the lead-in to the show of "Nicki, Wild Dog of the North," he put a bunch of baby dogs, cats, guinea pigs, possums and skunks in a cage to show young animals don't harm each other as long as they're not hungry. Someone suggested adding chicks and ducklings, and this was done.

Walt was in the middle of a take when he looked down to a kitten with a chick in its mouth and a puppy trying to make off with a duckling. He rescued the victims just in time.

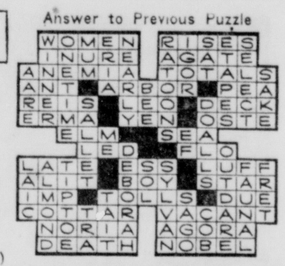

Two time capsules buried at the New York World's Fair are supposed to be opened in 6939.

Will Seek Compromise On Help for Senecas

WASHINGTON (AP)—House and Senate conferees have agreed to meet Tuesday in an attempt to compromise on a bill to help New York State's Seneca Indians.

The Seneca's problems arise from the construction of the Allegheny River Dam and Reservoir that will flood much of the Indians' Allegany Reservation in southwestern New York.

The House voted a $20,150,000 damage and rehabilitation fund but the Senate cut the amount to $9,126,500. The Senate-House committee has met four times without reaching a compromise.

Earlier this week the House passed a bill to prevent the Army Engineers from filling the reservoir until the Indians who live in the affected area are resettled.

Elmira Man Drowns

PENN YAN, N. Y. (AP)—Harold J. Hatfield, 62, of Elmira, drowned Friday in nearby Seneca Lake, police said. A boat he had rented was found overturned on the lake.

Auto Troubles Multiply for Him

NAPOLEON, Mich. (AP) — Gary Ellis, 19, says it just wasn't his day.

He was driving his sister's 1956 model car when the auto frame broke. He tied it together with a rope.

Then the rear end of the car shifted sideways and the driveshaft fell out of its housing, but the roped-together frame held.

A neighbor in another car, began pulling Gary's auto. Gary's right rear tire went flat. The spare was flat, too, so the trip continued. The flat tire came off the wheel.

The wheel threw sparks from the highway that set five grass fires. The Napoleon Fire Department extinguished the blazes.

Gary, who finally made it home, said "I think we'll keep the car and just stare at it — like a relic."

Deck Provides Ideal Hideout

Did you ever long for a tiny hide-away where you could get away from the hustle and bustle of a busy family, and yet be at home?

Some architects are giving the heads of the family just such a retreat in the form of a small, screened wood - decked patio opening off the master bedroom.

The floor deck needn't be very large, just enough for a couple of easy chairs or maybe a chaise lounge for dad and mom. It needn't cost much because wood decks are simple and easily built.

To insure maximum privacy, a high wooden screen can be installed around the sides of the deck exposed to the street or to activity in the family yard.

How do you build the deck? Use a sturdy lumber like Douglas fir which will last for years when exposed to the weather. The frame should be of small timbers and the deck can be of 2x4s spaced slightly to permit runoff.

The screening fence can be any pattern desired, but a louvered pattern will give good circulation and yet provide privacy. You can use western red cedar, a lightweight wood which will last for many years.

The deck and screen need not be painted or stained, but can be allowed to weather to a soft silvery color. However, these woods will take any paint or stain with ease in case color is desired.

Tile Stairwells

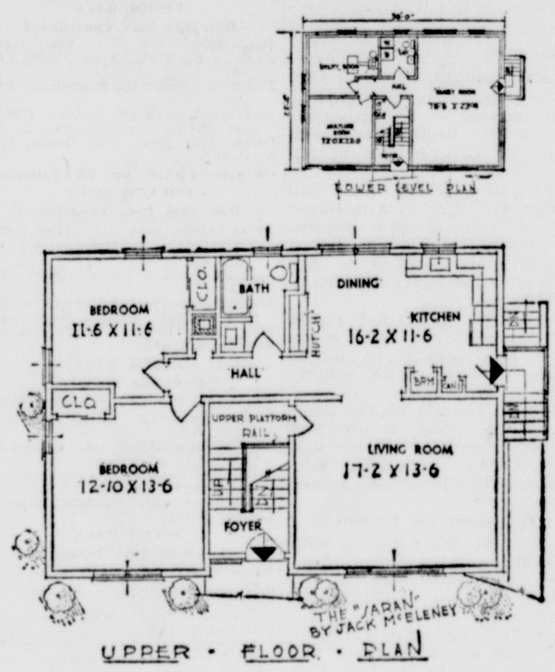

Stairwells present one of the most difficult—and dangerous—areas to paint in split-level and two-story homes. You won't ever have to tackle the job again if you surface your stairwell with ceramic tile. The many colors, sizes and patterns available in real tile will enable you to add permanent beauty to your home.

It's the Pigment

The color and hiding-power of quality paint is derived from particles of pigment. These particles are suspended in a vehicle that binds the coat of paint to a surface.

Growth Rings

The annual growth rings of a tree are what create the attractive texture and grain of wood. Softwoods like Douglas fir have defined growth rings which may range from six rings to the inch to ten or more.

Modern Level Living Is Set at Moderate Cost

(Associated Architects)

Contemporary treatment gives new expression to today's design of a split entry house. Its basic feature is simplified construction that pledges economy in initial cost and future upkeep.

The split entry prescribes a perfect combination for today's leisure living. The upper level shows two standard size bedrooms, full bath, large efficient kitchen with built-in hutch and a 17 by 13 living room. Activity reigns in the lower level. Party fun or pastime pleasures take place in the spacious family room without disruption to the upper household. Do-it-yourself enthusiasts can convert the multi-use room, if need be, to accommodate the growing family.

A plan of easy movement is carried out by a side entrance from the family room to the outdoors. This assures additional privacy to the upper level, and most important of all, it provides two exits from the basement area. It is also possible that some homeowners would consider converting the lower level into a one or two bedroom apartment for family reasons or to help with the mortgage payments. Such a conversion could materialize with the simple addition of a tub and a kitchen sink.

The basic overall measurements for the "Saran" design are 26 by 38 feet and 988 square feet of upper living area.

Uneventful Hand Played With Skill

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Augusta Cantor of New York has been a leading teacher and player for several years. She also is a good friend who is kind enough to send me an occasional hand.

Mrs. Cantor points out that she did not try for six because she was afraid of losing two diamonds. When she looked at dummy she saw that six would make easily if East held the diamond king. Augusta decided to go after six on the assumption that West would hold the diamond king and East both the king and queen of clubs.

Her play was to duck the club opening around to her singleton nine. East won with the king and shifted to a diamond. This produced the queen, king and ace. Now Augusta drew trumps, discarded one diamond on the ace of clubs and another on the jack of clubs later on in order to make the two overtricks.

Rather uninteresting except for Augusta's final comment. She said, "I was very disappointed with the result. Everyone else who stopped at four made six also because at all those tables West led away from his king of diamonds."

She shouldn't be too disappointed. If she had risen with the ace of clubs, she would have wound up making only five for a bad score instead of six for at least an average.

Marks 10th Year

Disney Wasting No Time, Most Of Season Taped

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television producers who scurry to make deadlines could take a lesson from Walt Disney. He's three-fifths finished with his programs for the coming season, which doesn't start until Sept. 20.

Variety Continues

The 1964-65 season is a special one for Disney — his 10th. His shows, first on ABC and now in color on NBC, have always reflected taste, quality and variety. The selection next year will continue to be varied, with accent on original, multichapter films.

"Of the 25 shows, we'll have about five nature films, two feature movies, two cartoon shows and the rest three and four-part story films," said Walt. "There's a reason for doing films in three or more parts. We put more time and bigger budgets into our shows than most television producers do.

"We believe in getting more action and bigger backgrounds for our stories, not just shoot them against a wall. We can justify the expense when we use sets for three or four shows. For instance, I had a whole Philadelphia street in the '90s built for 'Gallagher,' a story about a newspaper copy boy written by Richard Harding Davis."

Walt doesn't like to be pressed by deadlines. Hence 15 of the year's product of 24 hours is filmed.

Even Working on 65-66

"And we've got nature photographers out in the field shooting subjects for 1965 and 1966," he added.

As host of the series, Walt must spend some of his time as an actor. "There's some ham in all of us," he admitted. "I can shoot about five introductions in a day, and I find the work fun. It gives me a chance to get away from everything else for a day."

He tries to work animals into his act, and the results are often unexpected. For the lead-in to the show of "Nicki, Wild Dog of the North," he put a bunch of baby dogs, cats, guinea pigs, possums and skunks in a cage to show young animals don't harm each other as long as they're not hungry. Someone suggested adding chicks and ducklings, and this was done.

Walt was in the middle of a take when he looked down to a kitten with a chick in its mouth and a puppy trying to make off with a duckling. He rescued the victims just in time.

Two time capsules buried at the New York World's Fair are supposed to be opened in 6939.

Ed Argulewicz of the Elks had a double and triple.

Mike Milano went the distance for the 35 Club. He was touched for four hits. Starter Monte Rios took the setback. Arnie Sheinvold had a pair of singles for the winners, as did Walt Purhamus of Kiwanis.

Can the Green Bay Packers, with star Paul Hornung back in action, regain the National Football League championship?

Can the San Diego Chargers repeat as American League champions?

Will the Philadelphia Eagles and the Washington Redskins improve in the NFL after their numerous trades? Will the Kansas City Chiefs, 1962 champs, but an also ran in 1963, again be a title contender in the AFL?

Clues that may provide the will be forthcoming this weekend as the pro football exhibition season opens with games at New Orleans, Hershey, Pa., Charlotte, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Tampa, San Diego, Boston and Oakland, Calif. Seven of the games are scheduled tonight, three Sunday afternoon.

The Chicago Bears, NFL champions, provided the ceremonial kickoff Friday night with a 28-17 victory over the Field in Chicago.

Horning, whose hard running sparked Green Bay to NFL titles in 1961 and 1962 before his year's suspension for betting on games, will perform at New Orleans against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight.

Alex Karras, star Detroit lineman suspended at the same time as Hornung, also will return to competition tonight with the Lions against the revamped Redskins at Charloe.

The Eagles, who traded away Sonny Jurgenson and Tommy McDonald among others, field a virtual new team against the Baltimore Colts at Hershey.

Otto Graham Is Unimpressed With Bears After Triumph

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Otto Graham, head coach of the College All - Stars, wasn't overly impressed with the Chicago Bears even in his team's 28-17 defeat and saw his squad play a much better game than he had expected.

"The Bears didn't beat us," said Graham. "We beat ourselves. Our mistakes beat us. The last two touchdowns they scored proves that. We gave them the ball twice and they took it in. You can't do that against the National Football League champions."

Graham, who hadn't been enthused over the All-Star practice sessions said "honestly, I had no idea what this team would do. But they surprised me and played a lot better than I expected. And we could have won the ball game."

Three Quarterbacks

Graham used Pete Beathard of Southern Cal, George Mira of Miami, Fla., and John Concannon of Boston College at quarterback.

"They're all good and this is the All-Star game," said Graham, "You try to get as many players in the game as possible but you also try to win the game."

Chuck Taylor, Arizona State halfback and one of the brightest of the All-Stars, said "I never could get settled down. I guess I have too much respect for the pros and they hit hard."

Taylor threw one touchdown pass, caught another touchdown pass and kept the Bear defense honest with his jarring runs.

"Taylor can become a great one if he wants to," said Graham. "All he has to do is work."

Graham refused to compare the Bears with the Green Bay team his 1963 All-Stars defeated 20-17.

"I couldn't compare them," he said. "But all I can say is that other pro teams told me all year that the Bears won the championship but weren't the best team in the league."

In the Bear dressing room, all the players were highly impressed with Mira and most of them predicted a great future for the San Francisco rookie. Coach George Halas credited Graham with doing a fine job of coaching the All-Stars.

Barber Defeats Bouton Again; Thomas Leads Phils Over Mets

Birds Take Over Top Spot With 2-0 Win

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Barber is not having one of his great years, but he has just won permanent possession of Jim Bouton.

Since Bouton pitches for the New York Yankees, he makes a splendid addition to the Barber trophy room.

Barber turned the trick over Bouton for the third time this season Friday night, as the Baltimore Orioles drew first blood in the big flag fortnight in the American League.

The score was 2-0 for the Birds, and the victory put them in first place, a full game ahead of the Yankees. The Chicago White Sox snapped a three game losing streak with a 2-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox and remained 1½ games behind Baltimore, in third place.

In the next two weeks the Yankees play the Orioles and the White Sox seven more times each — and then the New Yorkers won't see either team again this year.

In other American League games, the Cleveland Indians won a doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins, 10-4 and 8-2, Detroit beat Kansas City 5-2 and the Washington Senators squeaked past the Los Angeles Angels, 4-3.

Haddix Saves It

Barber needed relief help from veteran Harvey Haddix, straight over the Yankees and Bouton in the big game at Yankee Stadium.

It was Barber's seventh victory of the year, against eight defeats.

Ray Herbert, who lost a month this season on the disabled list, won his fifth game for the White Sox and limited the Red Sox to five hits. He also drove in both the Chicago runs.

Phil Regan scattered eight hits for the Detroit victory. Gates Brown homered for the Tigers in the second inning and George Thomas and Bill Freehan hit back-to-back homers in the eighth.

The sweep for the Indians gave them eight victories in their last 10 games. Woodie Held and Joe Azcue hit two-run homers in the first game, and rookie Luis Tiant checked the Twins on five hits. It gave Tiant a 4-1 record since he came up from the minors.

Tony Oliva and Earl Battey homered for the Twins in the opener.

Larry Brown drove in three Cleveland runs with two singles in the second game, and Jimmy Hall hit a homer for the slugging Twins.

The Senators had a close call at Los Angeles. Claude Osteen rolled into the ninth inning with a 4-0 lead and seemed on his way to a shutout, only the second for the Senators' all year. Then the roof caved in.

Jim Fregosi walked, Joe Adcock blooped a single to right, and the runners moved up on a wild pitch. Ron Kline relieved Osteen and Bob Rodgers drove two runs in with a single. But Kline got Vic Power to hit into a double play, as the third run scored, and Lennie Green grounded out to end the inning. Osteen drove in the first Washington run, Don Zimmer added a homer and Chuck Hinton sent the last two runs over with an eighth inning single.

Bats in Two Runs as Leaders Increase Margin

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Thomas is a slow-footed, 35-year-old Met castoff with a future as rosy as his new red pinstripes.

The veteran of 11 seasons with National League also-rans finally may be ticketed for a World Series paycheck and the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, who spirited Thomas — via a Friday afternoon waiver deal — from the lowly Mets, may have bought themselves some pennant insurance.

Thomas helped his new club to a 9-4 victory over his old mates Friday night — only hours after the Phils acquired his contract in exchange for three minor leaguers. He drove in two runs with a double and single, then started a double play from first base as the Phils padded their NL lead to 2½ games over runner - up San Francisco.

The big right-handed slugger played previously for Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Milwaukee and has hit 275 career home runs. But he has never been with a pennant winner and has been with a last place club in 12 of his 17 major and minor league seasons.

Whiff 15 Giants

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Bill McCool struck out 15 and handcuffed the Giants 5-3, pulling the third place Reds within striking distance of the losers. St. Louis' Curt Simmons blanked Houston 4-0; The Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Milwaukee 5-1 and the Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 7-3 and 4-3.

The Phils, notoriously weak thus far against left - handed pitching, sought Thomas' bat as added punch against southpaws.

The Mets fought back for a 4-4 tie on Roy McMillan's two-run single in the fourth and Joe Christopher's two-run homer in the fifth but the Phils broke loose for four runs in the seventh to sew it up.

Maloney fanned 12 Giants in six innings before his arm tightened up. McCool finished up, striking out three but giving up two runs, including Jim Hart's 19th homer. Frank Robinson led the Reds' attack with a solo homer, a run-scoring double and a single. Orlando Cepeda singled, doubled and homered for the Giants.

Simmons stopped the Colts on five singles for his 33rd career shutout and 12th 1964 victory. Bill White's 15th homer, a two-run single by Lou Brock and three hits by Tim McCarver paced the Cardinals' third straight victory.

Milwaukee starter Hank Fischer failed to survive the opening inning for the second night in a row as the Dodgers scored all their runs in the first. Two-run doubles by Ron Fairly and Nate Oliver were the big blows. Tommy Davis' first inning single stretched his batting streak to 19 straight games and Phil Ortega, with ninth inning help from Bob Miller, won his first game since May 19.

Ron Santo went 5-for-9 in the Cubs' doubleheader victory over the Pirates. He clubbed his 21st home run, with a man on, in the opener, won by Larry Jackson, 14-10, and had three hits and two RBI behind Ernie Broglio, 6-9, in the nightcap.

Bobby Shantz finished for Broglio, who gave up solo homers to Jerry Lynch, Manny Mota and Bob Bailey, the last two in the ninth. Andre Rodgers singled home what turned out to be the winning run in the top of the ninth.

Play Continues In Net Tourney

In a women's singles quarter-final match, Mrs. Ruth Lantner, Jackson Heights, beat Mrs. Ursula Josias, Poughkeepsie, 6-2, 6-4.

In men's doubles quarter-final matches, the top seeded team of Dave Bonner and Art Jones, Poughkeepsie, beat Robert Lake and Dr. William Klink, Middletown, 6-4, 6-2; and Perry Link, Plattsburgh and Gordon Krajna, Tillson, won, 6-0, 6-3 over Dr. Thor Krogh and Tony Gobeo, Middletown.

Bears Win, 28-17 Over All-Stars

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The victorious Chicago Bears missed Willie Galimore and the scrappy collegians discovered the "Graham Cracker" too late in Friday night's 31st All-Star game.

The champion Bears of the National Football League, trailing 10-7 at halftime, rode to a 28-17 triumph mainly on the reliable passing arm of veteran quarterback Bill Wade.

But the big thrill for a Soldier Field crowd of 65,000 came in the final quarter as Coach Otto Graham used two quarterbacks simultaneously — Southern California's Pete Beathard and will-o'-the-wisp George Mira of Miami (Fla.).

With Beathard as main ball handler and Mira as a lonesome halfback, the Graham maneuver produced a lively finish just as the game seemed to bog down after the Bears muscled to a 28-10 lead.

With 26 seconds of the game left, Mira rifled a five-yard touchdown pass to another brilliant All-Star performer, halfback Charley Taylor of Arizona State.

Outgained on Ground

It took the Bears quite a while to build up steam in their attack which was outpounded on the ground by the All-Stars 187 yards to 94.

Ron Bull, who must carry the NFL load at the halfback spot he shared with the late Galimore, carried nine times for 35 yards, top Bear rushing effort. Galimore and end John Farrington were killed in an auto crash 14 days ago. Last night's game was preceded by a moment of silence in memory of the two.

On the other hand, the scampering Mira rambled 56 yards on four carries and two other All-Stars — Taylor and his Arizona State teammate Tony Lorich, also bettered Bull's yardage.

Taylor, who was a one-man gang himself, carried seven times for 36 yards and Lorich punched 38 yards on six tries.

Early in the second quarter, the fleet Taylor — headed for the Washington Redskins — streaked for a 29-yard gain on a Beathard pass that set up a 14-yard field goal by Ohio State' Dick Van Raaphorst for a 3-0 All-Star lead.

Later in the second quarter, Taylor recovered a Bear fumble on the Bear 18. Two plays later, he took a pitchout from Mira and hurled a 14-yard touchdown pass to Georgia Tech end Ted Davis for a 10-7 All-Star lead at halftime.

And it was Taylor scoring himself on a five-yard shot from Mira just before the game ended.

Mira, signed with the San Francisco 49ers, began entrenching himself as darling of the huge crowd late in the third quarter. He popped a dozen passes, completing six for 48 yards, to lead the All-Stars on a vain 75-yard march to the Bear four.

Wade is Sharp

The eventual difference was pro savvy and the marksmanship of Wade, who completed 15 of 23 passes for 217 yards, including a 13-yard scoring shot to Mike Ditka in the second quarter and a 20-yard touchdown flip to Gary Barnes in the third quarter for a 21-10 Bear lead.

Wade also scored on a one-foot sneak to move the Bears ahead 14-10 in the third period after pumping pass-after-pass, including a 38-yarder to Johnny Morris, in an 80-yard payoff drive. Sub Rudy Bukich looped a 30-yard TD pass to Charley Bivins for the final Bear score.

The Bear triumph gave the pros a 20-9 victory edge with two ties in the All-Star series.

Kenland Squaw Wins MR Feature

MONTICELLO — Parked outside for almost the entire mile, Kenland Squaw held off Hobo Rocket at the three-quarter pole and Talent Scout at the finish to win Friday's feature $3500 invitational trot in 2:06.2.

Owner-driver Vince Kachel took the lead for keeps just before the trotters reached the three-quarter pole. The six-year-old, who won his fifth race in 14 outings, waged a head-to-head duel with John Cameron and Hobo Rocket until the middle of the stretch.

Hobo Rocket faded and Talent Scout, making his first start in a betting race since June 5, came up fast on the outside and just missed overtaking the winner.

Sent off as the 3-2 favorite, Kenland Squaw returned $5.50, $3.50 and $2.80. Talent Scout paid $4.30 and $3.20 and the show price on Hobo Rocket was $3.10.

Friday's daily double of Little Silver and Herb Scott (3 and 5) paid $13.70.

Raceway Horsemen Capture 15th Win

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway's Horsemen scored six runs in the first inning and then coasted to a 9-5 win at Schenk's Friday their 15th in 17 games.

Bill Braden was the winner, his second triumph in the past two days.

The losers made it interesting, getting two runs in the fourth and three in the sixth before the visitors sealed the verdict with three markers in the seventh.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET — Nevele Surprise (8th).

UPSET CHANCE — Afton Colby (4th).

1. REBECCA ADIOS comes off corking effort. Might do. BIG LEAGUER has five driver and can with breaks. SUMPTER LAURIE can leave and has to be caught.

2. FRISKY PRINCE due to get going. In a perfect spot. SCOTCH KEY closes with a rush. TIMEKEEPER might wake up.

3. RITA GALLON is the only challenger to Pocomoonshine, which is not on the betting line. MAYNARD ABBE and KATY VICTORIA doesn't show much.

4. MEADOW FRANCES broke as 2-5 shot. AFTON COLBY in a spot to upset this field. MICHEL MIR and Grundy a good combination.

5. PIRAHNA has been getting closer. Maybe now. NEVELE HANOVER couldn't keep up with fast pace in last. The one to beat. SAL'S MITE is razor sharp.

6. HONOR BOY just missed twice in a row at Saratoga. Is picked here in a wide open battle. NEVELE RED woke up last week. Post hurts this time. QUINCY HANOVER a good longshot bet.

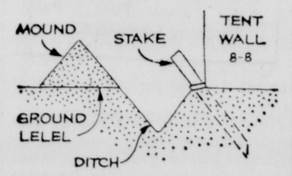

7. YANKEE MICK has been the victim of bad racing luck. NEVELE MEADOW back to last year's form. The one to beat. TORPEDO is not the same without Haughton.

8. NEVELE SURPRISE seeks second straight. The night's best bet. COLLIER HANOVER can close and will bear watching. FRIENDLY DARES in the hands of a live driver.

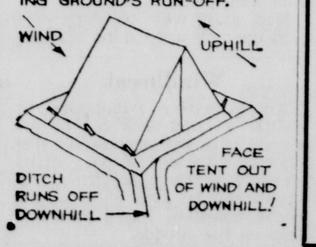

9. MEADOW DON comes in from Roosevelt and should have little trouble with this field. TARPORT JIMMY misses White. RUBY DUBY DOO was all out after a 29.4 quarter.

Barber Defeats Bouton Again; Thomas Leads Phils Over Mets

Birds Take Over Top Spot With 2-0 Win

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Barber is not having one of his great years, but he has just won permanent possession of Jim Bouton.

Since Bouton pitches for the New York Yankees, he makes a splendid addition to the Barber trophy room.

Barber turned the trick over Bouton for the third time this season Friday night, as the Baltimore Orioles drew first blood in the big flag fortnight in the American League.

The score was 2-0 for the Birds, and the victory put them in first place, a full game ahead of the Yankees. The Chicago White Sox snapped a three game losing streak with a 2-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox and remained 1½ games behind Baltimore, in third place.

In the next two weeks the Yankees play the Orioles and the White Sox seven more times each — and then the New Yorkers won't see either team again this year.

In other American League games, the Cleveland Indians won a doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins, 10-4 and 8-2, Detroit beat Kansas City 5-2 and the Washington Senators squeaked past the Los Angeles Angels, 4-3.

Haddix Saves It

Barber needed relief help from veteran Harvey Haddix, straight over the Yankees and Bouton in the big game at Yankee Stadium.

It was Barber's seventh victory of the year, against eight defeats.

Ray Herbert, who lost a month this season on the disabled list, won his fifth game for the White Sox and limited the Red Sox to five hits. He also drove in both the Chicago runs.

Phil Regan scattered eight hits for the Detroit victory. Gates Brown homered for the Tigers in the second inning and George Thomas and Bill Freehan hit back-to-back homers in the eighth.

The sweep for the Indians gave them eight victories in their last 10 games. Woodie Held and Joe Azcue hit two-run homers in the first game, and rookie Luis Tiant checked the Twins on five hits. It gave Tiant a 4-1 record since he came up from the minors.

Tony Oliva and Earl Battey homered for the Twins in the opener.

Larry Brown drove in three Cleveland runs with two singles in the second game, and Jimmy Hall hit a homer for the slugging Twins.

The Senators had a close call at Los Angeles. Claude Osteen rolled into the ninth inning with a 4-0 lead and seemed on his way to a shutout, only the second for the Senators' all year. Then the roof caved in.

Jim Fregosi walked, Joe Adcock blooped a single to right, and the runners moved up on a wild pitch. Ron Kline relieved Osteen and Bob Rodgers drove two runs in with a single. But Kline got Vic Power to hit into a double play, as the third run scored, and Lennie Green grounded out to end the inning. Osteen drove in the first Washington run, Don Zimmer added a homer and Chuck Hinton sent the last two runs over with an eighth inning single.

Hi-Lo, Subway Tie For Second Place

The winner of the tilt will capture second place and will battle G-G's in the first game of the playoffs while pennant winning Armstrong-Commanche opposes the loser in another playoff.

Playoffs will be best-of-three games with the winners facing each other in another best-of-three series.

Bats in Two Runs as Leaders Increase Margin

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Thomas is a slow-footed, 35-year-old Met castoff with a future as rosy as his new red pinstripes.

The veteran of 11 seasons with National League also-rans finally may be ticketed for a World Series paycheck and the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, who spirited Thomas — via a Friday afternoon waiver deal — from the lowly Mets, may have bought themselves some pennant insurance.

Thomas helped his new club to a 9-4 victory over his old mates Friday night — only hours after the Phils acquired his contract in exchange for three minor leaguers. He drove in two runs with a double and single, then started a double play from first base as the Phils padded their NL lead to 2½ games over runner - up San Francisco.

The big right-handed slugger played previously for Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Milwaukee and has hit 275 career home runs. But he has never been with a pennant winner and has been with a last place club in 12 of his 17 major and minor league seasons.

Whiff 15 Giants

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Bill McCool struck out 15 and handcuffed the Giants 5-3, pulling the third place Reds within striking distance of the losers. St. Louis' Curt Simmons blanked Houston 4-0; The Los-Angeles Dodgers whipped Milwaukee 5-1 and the Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 7-3 and 4-3.

The Phils, notoriously weak thus far against left - handed pitching, sought Thomas' bat as added punch against southpaws.

The Mets fought back for a 4-4 tie on Roy McMillan's two-run single in the fourth and Joe Christopher's two-run homer in the fifth but the Phils broke loose for four runs in the seventh to sew it up.

Maloney fanned 12 Giants in six innings before his arm tightened up. McCool finished up, striking out three but giving up two runs, including Jim Hart's 19th homer. Frank Robinson led the Reds' attack with a solo homer, a run-scoring double and a single. Orlando Cepeda singled, doubled and homered for the Giants.

Simmons stopped the Colts on five singles for his 33rd career shutout and 12th 1964 victory. Bill White's 15th homer, a two-run single by Lou Brock and three hits by Tim McCarver paced the Cardinals' third straight victory.

Milwaukee starter Hank Fischer failed to survive the opening inning for the second night in a row as the Dodgers scored all their runs in the first. Two-run doubles by Ron Fairly and Nate Oliver were the big blows. Tommy Davis' first inning single stretched his batting streak to 19 straight games and Phil Ortega, with ninth inning help from Bob Miller, won his first game since May 19.

Ron Santo went 5-for-9 in the Cubs' doubleheader victory over the Pirates. He clubbed his 21st home run, with a man on, in the opener, won by Larry Jackson, 14-10, and had three hits and two RBI behind Ernie Broglio, 6-9, in the nightcap.

Bobby Shantz finished for Broglio, who gave up solo homers to Jerry Lynch, Manny Mota and Bob Bailey, the last two in the ninth. Andre Rodgers singled home what turned out to be the winning run in the top of the ninth.

Play Continues In Net Tourney

In a women's singles quarter-final match, Mrs. Ruth Lantner, Jackson Heights, beat Mrs. Ursula Josias, Poughkeepsie, 6-2, 6-4.

In men's doubles quarter-final matches, the top seeded team of Dave Bonner and Art Jones, Poughkeepsie, beat Robert Lake and Dr. William Klink, Middletown, 6-4, 6-2; and Perry Link, Plattsburgh and Gordon Krajna, Tillson, won, 6-0, 6-3 over Dr. Thor Krogh and Tony Gobeo, Middletown.

Bears Win, 28-17 Over All-Stars

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The victorious Chicago Bears missed Willie Galimore and the scrappy collegians discovered the "Graham Cracker" too late in Friday night's 31st All-Star game.

The champion Bears of the National Football League, trailing 10-7 at halftime, rode to a 28-17 triumph mainly on the reliable passing arm of veteran quarterback Bill Wade.

But the big thrill for a Soldier Field crowd of 65,000 came in the final quarter as Coach Otto Graham used two quarterbacks simultaneously — Southern California's Pete Beathard and will-o'-the-wisp George Mira of Miami (Fla.).

With Beathard as main ball handler and Mira as a lonesome halfback, the Graham maneuver produced a lively finish just as the game seemed to bog down after the Bears muscled to a 28-10 lead.

Mira kept taking flat passes from Beathard and either scampered for yardage or flipped passes from his wide vantage point.

With 26 seconds of the game left, Mira rifled a five-yard touchdown pass to another brilliant All-Star performer, halfback Charley Taylor of Arizona State.

Outgained on Ground

It took the Bears quite a while to build up steam in their attack which was outpounded on the ground by the All-Stars 187 yards to 94.

Ron Bull, who must carry the NFL load at the halfback spot he shared with the late Galimore, carried nine times for 35 yards, top Bear rushing effort. Galimore and end John Farrington were killed in an auto crash 14 days ago. Last night's game was preceded by a moment of silence in memory of the two.

On the other hand, the scampering Mira rambled 56 yards on four carries and two other All-Stars — Taylor and his Arizona State teammate Tony Lorich, also bettered Bull's yardage.

Taylor, who was a one-man gang himself, carried seven times for 36 yards and Lorich punched 38 yards on six tries.

Early in the second quarter, the fleet Taylor — headed for the Washington Redskins — streaked for a 29-yard gain on a Beathard pass that set up a 14-yard field goal by Ohio State' Dick Van Raaphorst for a 3-0 All-Star lead.

Later in the second quarter, Taylor recovered a Bear fumble on the Bear 18. Two plays later, he took a pitchout from Mira and hurled a 14-yard touchdown pass to Georgia Tech end Ted Davis for a 10-7 All-Star lead at halftime.

And it was Taylor scoring himself on a five-yard shot from Mira just before the game ended.

Mira, signed with the San Francisco 49ers, began entrenching himself as darling of the huge crowd late in the third quarter. He popped a dozen passes, completing six for 48 yards, to lead the All-Stars on a vain 75-yard march to the Bear four.

Wade is Sharp

The eventual difference was pro savvy and the marksmanship of Wade, who completed 15 of 23 passes for 217 yards, including a 13-yard scoring shot to Mike Ditka in the second quarter and a 20-yard touchdown flip to Gary Barnes in the third quarter for a 21-10 Bear lead.

Wade also scored on a one-foot sneak to move the Bears ahead 14-10 in the third period after pumping pass-after-pass, including a 38-yarder to Johnny Morris, in an 80-yard payoff drive. Sub Rudy Bukich looped a 30-yard TD pass to Charley Bivins for the final Bear score.

The Bear triumph gave the pros a 20-9 victory edge with two ties in the All-Star series.

Kenland Squaw Wins MR Feature

MONTICELLO — Parked outside for almost the entire mile, Kenland Squaw held off Hobo Rocket at the three-quarter pole and Talent Scout at the finish to win Friday's feature $3500 invitational trot in 2:06.2.

Owner-driver Vince Kachel took the lead for keeps just before the trotters reached the three-quarter pole. The six-year-old, who won his fifth race in 14 outings, waged a head-to-head duel with John Cameron and Hobo Rocket until the middle of the stretch.

Hobo Rocket faded and Talent Scout, making his first start in a betting race since June 5, came up fast on the outside and just missed overtaking the winner.

Sent off as the 3-2 favorite, Kenland Squaw returned $5.50, $3.50 and $2.80. Talent Scout paid $4.30 and $3.20 and the show price on Hobo Rocket was $3.10.

Friday's daily double of Little Silver and Herb Scott (3 and 5) paid $13.70.

Raceway Horsemen Capture 15th Win

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway's Horsemen scored six runs in the first inning and then coasted to a 9-5 win at Schenk's Friday their 15th in 17 games.

Bill Braden was the winner, his second triumph in the past two days.

The losers made it interesting, getting two runs in the fourth and three in the sixth before the visitors sealed the verdict with three markers in the seventh.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET — Nevele Surprise (8th).

UPSET CHANCE — Afton Colby (4th).

1. REBECCA ADIOS comes off corking effort. Might do. BIG LEAGUER has five driver and can with breaks. SUMPTER LAURIE can leave and has to be caught.

2. FRISKY PRINCE due to get going. In a perfect spot. SCOTCH KEY closes with a rush. TIMEKEEPER might wake up.

3. RITA GALLON is the only challenger to Pocomoonshine, which is not on the betting line. MAYNARD ABBE and KATY VICTORIA doesn't show much.

4. MEADOW FRANCES broke as 2-5 shot. AFTON COLBY in a spot to upset this field. MICHEL MIR and Grundy a good combination.

5. PIRAHNA has been getting closer. Maybe now. NEVELE HANOVER couldn't keep up with fast pace in last. The one to beat. SAL'S MITE is razor sharp.

6. HONOR BOY just missed twice in a row at Saratoga. Is picked here in a wide open battle. NEVELE RED woke up last week. Post hurts this time. QUINCY HANOVER a good longshot bet.

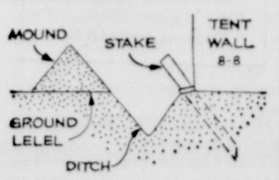

7. YANKEE MICK has been the victim of bad racing luck. NEVELE MEADOW back to last year's form. The one to beat. TORPEDO is not the same without Haughton.

8. NEVELE SURPRISE seeks second straight. The night's best bet. COLLIER HANOVER can close and will bear watching. FRIENDLY DARES in the hands of a live driver.

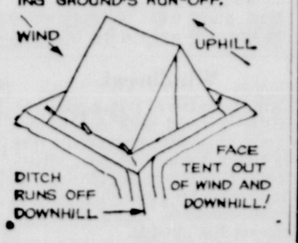

9. MEADOW DON comes in from Roosevelt and should have little trouble with this field. TARPORT JIMMY misses White. RUBY DUBY DOO was all out after a 29.4 quarter.

Pro Gridders Begin Exhibition Schedules

PRO GRIDDERS HD

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can the Green Bay Packers, with star Paul Hornung back in action, regain the National Football League championship?

Can the San Diego Chargers repeat as American League champions?

Will the Philadelphia Eagles and the Washington Redskins improve in the NFL after their numerous trades? Will the Kansas City Chiefs, 1962 champs, but an also ran in 1963, again be a title contender in the AFL?

Clues that may provide the will be forthcoming this weekend as the pro football exhibition season opens with games at New Orleans, Hershey, Pa., Charlotte, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Tampa, San Diego, Boston and Oakland, Calif. Seven of the games are scheduled tonight, three Sunday afternoon.

The Chicago Bears, NFL champions, provided the ceremonial kickoff Friday night with a 28-17 victory over the Field in Chicago.

Horning, whose hard running sparked Green Bay to NFL titles in 1961 and 1962 before his year's suspension for betting on games, will perform at New Orleans against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight.

Alex Karras, star Detroit lineman suspended at the same time as Hornung, also will return to competition tonight with the Lions against the revamped Redskins at Charloe.

The Eagles, who traded away Sonny Jurgenson and Tommy McDonald among others, field a virtual new team against the Baltimore Colts at Hershey.

In the other NFL games tonight the New York Giants, Eastern Conference champs, are at Minnesota and the Dallas Cowboys at Los Angeles. On Sunday the Cleveland Browns play at San Francisco.

San Diego, beaten only once in 17 exhibition games in four years, entertain the Denver Broncos tonight, the team that inflicted the Chargers' lone exhibition defeat. In another AFL game tonight the New York Jets and the Buffalo Bills clash at Tampa, Fla.

Two Sunday games, Kansas City at Oakland and Houston at Boston, round out the AFL schedule.

Ladies' Booster

There will be an organization-meeting of the Ladies' Booster league on Tuesday, Aug. 11, 7 p. m. Those interested in taking part in the circuit this season are urged to attend.

Otto Graham Is Unimpressed With Bears After Triumph

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Otto Graham, head coach of the College All - Stars, wasn't overly impressed with the Chicago Bears even in his team's 28-17 defeat and saw his squad play a much better game than he had expected.

"The Bears didn't beat us," said Graham. "We beat ourselves. Our mistakes beat us. The last two touchdowns they scored proves that. We gave them the ball twice and they took it in. You can't do that against the National Football League champions."

Graham, who hadn't been enthused over the All-Star practice sessions said "honestly, I had no idea what this team would do. But they surprised me and played a lot better than I expected. And we could have won the ball game."

Three Quarterbacks

Graham used Pete Beathard of Southern Cal, George Mira of Miami, Fla., and John Concannon of Boston College at quarterback.

"They're all [illegible] and this is the All-Star game," said Graham, "You try to get as many players in the game as possible but you also try to win the game."

Chuck Taylor, Arizona State halfback and one of the brightest of the All-Stars, said "I never could get settled down. I guess I have too much respect for the pros and they hit hard."

Taylor threw one touchdown pass, caught another touchdown pass and kept the Bear defense honest with his jarring runs.

"Taylor can become a great one if he wants to," said Graham. "All he has to do is work."

Graham refused to compare the Bears with the Green Bay team his 1963 All-Stars defeated 20-17.

"I couldn't compare them," he said. "But all I can say is that other pro teams told me all year that the Bears won the championship but weren't the best team in the league."

In the Bear dressing room, all the players were highly impressed with Mira and most of them predicted a great future for the San Francisco rookie. Coach George Halas credited Graham with doing a fine job of coaching the All-Stars.

LOST

A ONE YEAR old female horse, believed stolen. Light reddish-brown color. 2 recent scars on rump. If seen anywhere, call FE 8-4948 immediately. Reward for recovery. Kiersted ranch.

GERMAN SHEPHERD—black & silver. Ans. to name "Ulmer". REWARD. FE 1-1124 or FE 1-9737.

By the end of this year, it'll be Arnold Palmer, international pro—because he'll be touring all tournaments in his own jet plane with his own jet pilot. Jack Nicklaus, who also has the flying bug, has logged four or five hours at the controls but says, "I don't want to get so qualified I think I'm good." . . .

Part of the flying fetish is so that the big pros can get a couple of days off between tournaments. To see their families? No, to attend to their multiple other enterprises. . . .

In addition to being the most colorful, Chi Chi Rodriguez is also the most controversial of the golf pros—for such stunts as using a six-inch tee in the Canadian Open. . . . "They only resent my kidding," says Chi Chi, "when I'm playing good. Only two guys out of 300 have complained. That's a pretty good percentage. I guess it's only human. They play bad, and they got to take it out on somebody." . . .

Chi Chi Rodriguez

Rodriguez is seriously thinking of cutting down on his pro activity because he's a little guy who can't take all the travel, and the thumb he hurt in Las Vegas has become a chronic thing. He's also tempted to take a fling at crooning, a la Frank Sinatra. . . .

Bill Collins, perhaps the most pleasant guy on the tour had a back operation a year ago (a disc was removed) and was swinging a club again in eight weeks. After Bill had a sensational putting round in the Canadian Open, with 26 for the 18 holes, Palmer shook his head: "Now I know why he got his bad back—bending over to pick the ball out of the cup." . . .

The putting style of Bob Shave, with his left hand on the top and his right hand steering the club, croquet style, is generally ridiculed, though Bob insists it gives him 13 per cent better vision. Anyhow, Gary Player was impressed enough to buy one of Bob's self-manufactured putters. . . .

Hitting a long ball isn't everything in golf, apparently. Pete Brown, a promising Negro golfer, played head-and-head with Jack Nicklaus in Montreal and outdrove husky Jack on every hole but one, yet finished three strokes behind. Nicklaus, who's as long as anybody in the game, confesses, "I don't try to be a long hitter except when I have to be—on courses like the Masters. I don't like to belt the ball all day long. I get tired of it. I like to play golf shots." . . .

Quite an experience to watch a football game in Montreal. The man on the loudspeaker announces one play in English and the next in French. An "essai" is a down. And when a guy slugs an opponent, the referee steps off a 15-yard penalty for "objectionable conduct." . . .

The Canadian Football League is also going into the television package business, like its American brethren—only on a more modest scale. The rights have been sold for Big Four games (the Eastern division) for a million dollars for the next two years. . . .

One pro great who should know says unequivocally that Jack Concannon, the high priced rookie of the Eagles, "will never make it as a pro quarterback. Though he's a strong runner, his back fusion limits his mobility, and he's just not an accurate passer." . . . Penn State's Rip Engle, just back from a tour to American GI's in Viet Nam, related two favorite questions (1) what happened to Don Caum (last year's quarterback): (2) what's with the topless bathing suit? . . .

Between you'n'me, Houston manager Harry Craft, a fine centerfielder in his day, says he has never seen so many fly balls dropped as this summer . and that the single addition of Willie Mays would make the Colts a National League pennant contender.

By the end of this year, it'll be Arnold Palmer, international pro—because he'll be touring all tournaments in his own jet plane with his own jet pilot. Jack Nicklaus, who also has the flying bug, has logged four or five hours at the controls but says, "I don't want to get so qualified I think I'm good." . . .

Part of the flying fetish is so that the big pros can get a couple of days off between tournaments. To see their families? No, to attend to their multiple other enterprises. . . .

In addition to being the most colorful, Chi Chi Rodriguez is also the most controversial of the golf pros—for such stunts as using a six-inch tee in the Canadian Open. . . . "They only resent my kidding," says Chi Chi, "when I'm playing good. Only two guys out of 300 have complained. That's a pretty good percentage. I guess it's only human. They play bad, and they got to take it out on somebody." . . .

Chi Chi Rodriguez

Rodriguez is seriously thinking of cutting down on his pro activity because he's a little guy who can't take all the travel, and the thumb he hurt in Las Vegas has become a chronic thing. He's also tempted to take a fling at crooning, a la Frank Sinatra. . . .

Bill Collins, perhaps the most pleasant guy on the tour had a back operation a year ago (a disc was removed) and was swinging a club again in eight weeks. After Bill had a sensational putting round in the Canadian Open, with 26 for the 18 holes, Palmer shook his head: "Now I know why he got his bad back—bending over to pick the ball out of the cup." . . .

The putting style of Bob Shave, with his left hand on the top and his right hand steering the club, croquet style, is generally ridiculed, though Bob insists it gives him 13 per cent better vision. Anyhow, Gary Player was impressed enough to buy one of Bob's self-manufactured putters. . . .

Hitting a long ball isn't everything in golf, apparently. Pete Brown, a promising Negro golfer, played head-and-head with Jack Nicklaus in Montreal and outdrove husky Jack on every hole but one, yet finished three strokes behind. Nicklaus, who's as long as anybody in the game, confesses, "I don't try to be a long hitter except when I have to be—on courses like the Masters. I don't like to belt the ball all day long. I get tired of it. I like to play golf shots." . . .

Quite an experience to watch a football game in Montreal. The man on the loudspeaker announces one play in English and the next in French. An "essai" is a down. And when a guy slugs an opponent, the referee steps off a 15-yard penalty for "objectionable conduct." . . .

The Canadian Football League is also going into the television package business, like its American brethren—only on a more modest scale. The rights have been sold for Big Four games (the Eastern division) for a million dollars for the next two years. . . .

One pro great who should know says unequivocally that Jack Concannon, the high priced rookie of the Eagles, "will never make it as a pro quarterback. Though he's a strong runner, his back fusion limits his mobility, and he's just not an accurate passer." . . . Penn State's Rip Engle, just back from a tour to American GI's in Viet Nam, related two favorite questions (1) what happened to Don Caum (last year's quarterback); (2) what's with the topless bathing suit? . . .

Between you'n'me, Houston manager Harry Craft, a fine centerfielder in his day, says he has never seen so many fly balls dropped as this summer . and that the single addition of Willie Mays would make the Colts a National League pennant contender.

$250,000 Buffalo Damage

Explosions, Fires Rack Industrial Park Area

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—State Police say the damage from a propane gas explosion and fires that racked buildings and other property in and near a suburban industrial park totalled an estimated $250,000.

500 Families Evacuated

About 500 familes in the area near the town of Alden Industrial Park were evacuated from their homes for a time Friday because of the possibility of further explosions. Approximately 220 persons fled from three plants in the park.

Three persons suffered minor injuries, troopers said.

The Impact Container Corp. plant in the industrial park suffered approximately $200,000 damage, troopers said. They reported that a small fire in a nearby tractor-trailer spread to the plant, where propane gas tanks and paint cans exploded in the heat.

The explosion triggered a fire that destroyed three homes, a garage and a chicken coop, troopers said. Seven tractor-trailers were damaged.

Flames crept through grass to within 30 feet of a giant propane gas tank.

The Hercules Packing Corp. and Burnwell Gas Distributors Inc., located adjacent to the Impact Container Corp., were not damaged.

Firemen Ordered Out

Firemen were ordered out of the area and waited for two and a half hours before State Police, deciding that the danger of further explosions had subsided, allowed them to move in again.

Automobile traffic in the area was restricted. The New York Central Railroad's main line service in the section was rerouted. Airplanes received warnings to stay clear of the site.

At the Erie County home and infirmary, across the street from the park, residents were led to air raid shelters in the building's cellar. Officials of the nearby county penitentiary considered evacuating prisoners.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission plans to set off a small nuclear blast deep in a salt mine near Hattiesburg, Miss., Sept. 22, the first of three in "project dribble" for developing techniques to detect underground nuclear explosions.

The nuclear device, designed to yield an explosive force of five kilitons, will be set off 2,700 feet down in the mine, 28 miles southeast of Hattiesburg.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent to the White House a bill to assure attorney and investigative help to persons charged with crimes but without money to defend themselves.

Under the plan indigent defendants would be represented by private attorneys, counsel furnished by legal aid societies or other local defender organizations.

The bill would apply only to federal cases. Money to pay lawyers, investigators and any other needed expert assistance would be drawn from the Treasury by the courts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 280 cases of meningitis, with over a score of deaths, have occurred at military bases this year, Defense Department records show.

The largest number of cases and deaths were at Army posts. From Jan. 1 through July 24 there were 216 cases with 19 deaths.

Ten of the deaths were at Ft. Ord, Calif., the big West Coast training center.

Farmers Required To Sign for ACP Before Sept. 15

Joseph Sauer, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced that farmers in Ulster County may now enroll in the ACP program for practices they intend to carry out this fall. Enrollment must be made by Sept. 15 and all projects completed by the end of the year.

For those who expect to do liming, a soil test report must accompany their request. Anyone interested in liming, ponds, ditching, or similar work should stop at the County ASC Office, 54 John Street, or enrollment forms can be mailed upon request. All requests will be held until Sept. 15, with approvals issued at that time.

Farmers who are interested are urged to enroll promptly.

Appeals Against Strikes

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has appealed to his opponents to call off their planned hunger strikes, work stoppages and other potentially explosive protests against India's critical food shortage.

He warned that such demonstrations could plunge India into a new wave of unrest. The leaders promised to consider Shastri's plea, but it was doubted that they would forego the opportunity of making political capital out of the shortages.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
A PBusiness News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business and finance worried during the week over the Southeast Asian crisis.

The stock market became jittery as hostilities erupted between the United States and North Viet Nam with the threat of Red Chinese involvement.

Businessmen apprehensively pondered what future events hold in store for them.

Not as Severe as Cuba

However, the reaction wasn't as severe as at the time of the Cuban missile crisis in 1962.

The first battle between North Viet Nam patrol torpedo boats and a U.S. destroyer sent the stock market on Tuesday into the steepest decline in two months.

The sell-off accelerated when the market opened Wednesday after news of the second PT boat-destroyer battle and the Dow Jones industrial average plunged 8.90 in the first hour.

The sell-off was due in part, brokers said, to sell orders from foreign stockholders.

Then a steady recovery set in that carried the averages back to where they started the day. Bargain hunters, entering the market after it had experienced a fairly long decline, were responsible for the late buying wave, according to brokers.

Defense stocks led the recovery.

Market Anxiety Shows

With anxiety growing over what Red China might do, the market suffered a severe late sinking spell Thursday.

Commodities futures prices in New York and Chicago advanced on the theory that a war would make supplies more difficult to get and that buying now for future delivery would be profitable.

Most businessmen seemed to think that it was too early to make any judgments about the future. Despite initial apprehension, their attitude was one of wait and see.

It was a week, too, in which 1965 model cars began rolling off the assembly lines and talk of the possibility of a steel price advance increase.

Auto Output Dips

Automobile production fell to its lowest level of the year with an estimated 11,400 passenger cars turned out against 620,020 the previous week and 41,862 a year ago.

Production in July fell to 586,255 from 655,200 last year because model changeover was started a week or two earlier.

Negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and the companies on a new labor contract continued without any announcement of progress. The contracts expire Aug. 31.

The trade publication, Iron Age, said that steel industry leaders are delicately weighing the possibility of a price increase. Some executives were outspoken for the need for higher prices while others were concerned over inflationary pressures, it said.

Demand for steel continued steady with order rates surprisingly high for the summer.

Production during the week held steady with the previous week at 2,270,000 tons. For the first 31 weeks of the year output totaled 72,443,000 tons, 4.8 per cent ahead of the 69,100,000 produced in the like period of 1963.

Jobless Rate Declines

The National Association of Purchasing Agents, in a report based on a survey of its members, said business was "phenomenally good" in July. For the first time since 1958 purchasing executives reported better new order and production figures in July than in June.

The Labor Department reported that unemployment dropped .04 per cent to 4.9 per cent in July. This was the first time the jobless rate has fallen below 5 per cent in nearly 4½ years.

Employment climbed to 72.4 million last month—the first time that it has exceeded 72 million.

The surge of retail sales was evidence by reports of record revenue in the first half of this year by four of the nation's major retail chains — Sears, Roebuck & Co., J. C. Penney Co., Montgomery Ward & Co. and Aldens, Inc.

On the other hand, construction in July dipped below the June rate, the Census Bureau said. Building outlays in July ran at an annual rate of $65,501,000,000, compared with $66,183,000,000 in June.

Man Who Slew Deaf Mute to Face Mental Exam

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old man, charged with first-degree murder in the shooting of a deaf mute during a tavern holdup, will undergo a mental examination.

Judge Burke I. Burke of Erie County Court Friday granted a defense request that Robert L. Hayes, a Negro, be given psychiatric tests.

Police said Hayes was stationed outside a tavern here last Jan. 22 as a lookout while 20-year-old Carla Leach, in the midst of holding up the bar, shot John Johnkins, 33.

Miss Leach, who is white, is charged with first-degree murder. She and Hayes are formerly from Columbus, Ohio.

Dies of Burns After Explosion

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP) —A young man died today of third-degree burns suffered in an explosion touched off by a fire that leveled a home, garage, barn, workshop and about 50 acres of brush.

Richard White, 20, of nearby Morristown, died at A. Barton Hepburn Hospital, where he had been in critical condition with burns over 70 per cent of his body.

White was injured Friday when a bottled gas container exploded and covered him with a sheet of flame. He had gone to the fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilbo, and was standing near the house when the bottled gas exploded.

Firemen from several volunteer departments fought the blaze for seven hours. Water had to be trucked seven miles because water supplies had dried up during the four-month drought.

The cause of the fire was not determined. Mrs. Gilbo said she discovered the house in flames when she returned from a shopping trip. Her husband was at a summer camp.

There was no estimate of damage.

Two Feared Drowned

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Two persons were missing and fearcd drowned today after a Dutch pleasure boat and a German tanker barge collided here in the Rhine River, police said.

The Dutch vessel Ahoy, had 64 passengers when it collided Friday with the tanker, Rheintank 11. Police said 16 persons from the Ahoy were hurled into the water.

Tour Knitting Mills

A group from Camp Hurley, Ashokan under the direction of Seth Willenson and Charles Groth, was conducted on a tour today of the manufacturing departments of the Kingston Knitting Mills. Those in the tour were shown sweaters being manufactured from incoming yarn to the folding and boxing of the completed item. Kingston Knitting Mills have been located in Kingston since 1934.

Sees Hardships For Stores With New SLA Ruling

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of the State Liquor Authority foresees some hardships for existing liquor stores as a result of a decision to grant up to 2,000 new licenses annually.

The authority has announced details of the lifting of the 16-year-old ceiling on the number of liquor stores.

Donald S. Hostetter, SLA chairman, said Friday:

"We recognize that there's no way of doing this without somebody's finding himself in a most undesirable position. What we've tried to do in this transition is to try to be as helpful as we can."

He noted that liquor store owners could apply immediately to change their location within the county and, after Oct. 1, to anywhere in the state. New applications are to be acted upon after Dec. 1.

He said the order in which new applications will be dealt with will be determined by lot in a public drawing.

The authority's program, announced Thursday, calls for a gradual lifting of the moratorium. Applications will be received this December and during March, June and September next year. After that it will be on a continuing basis.

The changes were in line with revisions of the liquor control law enacted at a special session of the state Legislature last April.

Gov. Rockefeller had called for the revisions after grand jury probes of reported graft and corruption in the authority.

3 Children Suffocate

CHICAGO (AP)—Three children were found suffocated Friday night in an unused refrigerator on the back porch of their apartment building.

The bodies of Cynthia Ann Hartman, 4, and her brothers, Joseph 5, and Martin, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman, were found by police several hours after their mother reported them missing.

Says Turk Air Attack Could Be Prelude to War

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greek Defense minister Peter Garoufalias said today that Turkey's "unjustified aerial attack" on a Cyprus village Friday had created "a highly dangerous situation which might lead to war."

Garoufalias issued the statement as the chiefs of the Greek armed forces met to consider the military implications of the new crisis.

Garoufalias said the flight was an action provoking tension and simultaneously creates a highly dangerous situation which might lead to war."

Business Too Good

JFK Kin Close Up Cape Shop

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Business was too good for the sidewalk stands run by nieces and nephews of the late President John F. Kennedy.

They closed up shop Friday after customers and tourists in this seaside community had snarled traffic near the Kennedy compound.

The children, operating from orange-crate counters, offered postcards, medallions and souvenirs to raise funds for the Kennedy Memorial Library to be built in Boston.

They raised nearly $50 in two days from flabbergasted tourists who became willing buyers when they learned the identities of the storekeepers.

But after the word got around, Hyannis Port's narrow streets were jammed, and police had to be called to direct traffic.

And the enterprising Kennedy kids decided, reluctantly, they were too successful and went out of business.

The little storekeepers were the children of the late president's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and his sister, Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver, Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith.

Among those at the stands were Maria Shriver, 8; Robert Kennedy Jr., 10; his brother, David, 11, and sister Mary, 7; and Sydney Lawford, 7.

House Fund Slashed For Service Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has slashed the Johnson administration's request for funds for military construction by $296,031,000.

The committee, acting Friday also lopped off $16,045,500 from the military construction fund bill passed by the House May 26.

The committee's approval of $1,582,969,000 for construction at military bases in the United States and abroad also is $2,911,000 less than Congress appropriated last year.

Under the Senate version, the Air Force would receive the largest amount of the three services — $342,986,000. The Army follows with $311,977,000 and the Navy would receive $250,899,000.

The remaining money is for reserve units, defense department agencies, the defense atomic support agency, defense supply agency and family housing.

The Senate committee approved only enough money, $13,804,000, to build 7,500 new family housing units. The Defense Department had asked for 9,877 units.

The senators also approved $20,228,000 to continue a modernization at the West Point Academy, and restored $450,000, eliminated by the House, to provide a consolidated band facility at West Point. In addition, the Senate restored $350,000 that the House had cut from funds for work at the Academy's Washington Hall-Barracks complex.

Projects approved by the Senate for New York State, with House approved appropriations in parenthesis.

Appeals Against Strikes

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has appealed to his opponents to call off their planned hunger strikes, work stoppages and other potentially explosive protests against India's critical food shortage.

He warned that such demonstrations could plunge India into a new wave of unrest. The leaders promised to consider Shastri's plea, but it was doubted that they would forego the opportunity of making political capital out of the shortages.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
A PBusiness News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business and finance worried during the week over the Southeast Asian crisis.

The stock market became jittery as hostilities erupted between the United States and North Viet Nam with the threat of Red Chinese involvement.

Businessmen apprehensively pondered what future events hold in store for them.

Not as Severe as Cuba

However, the reaction wasn't as severe as at the time of the Cuban missile crisis in 1962.

The first battle between North Viet Nam patrol torpedo boats and a U.S. destroyer sent the stock market on Tuesday into the steepest decline in two months.

The sell-off accelerated when the market opened Wednesday after news of the second PT boat-destroyer battle and the Dow Jones industrial average plunged 8.90 in the first hour.

The sell-off was due in part, brokers said, to sell orders from foreign stockholders.

Then a steady recovery set in that carried the averages back to where they started the day. Bargain hunters, entering the market after it had experienced a fairly long decline, were responsible for the late buying wave, according to brokers.

Defense stocks led the recovery.

Market Anxiety Shows

With anxiety growing over what Red China might do, the market suffered a severe late sinking spell Thursday.

Commodities futures prices in New York and Chicago advanced on the theory that a war would make supplies more difficult to get and that buying now for future delivery would be profitable.

Most businessmen seemed to think that it was too early to make any judgments about the future. Despite initial apprehension, their attitude was one of wait and see.

It was a week, too, in which 1965 model cars began rolling off the assembly lines and talk of the possibility of a steel price advance increase.

Auto Output Dips

Automobile production fell to its lowest level of the year with an estimated 11,400 passenger cars turned out against 620,020 the previous week and 41,862 a year ago.

Production in July fell to 586,255 from 655,200 last year because model changeover was started a week or two earlier.

Negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and the companies on a new labor contract continued without any announcement of progress. The contracts expire Aug. 31.

The trade publication, Iron Age, said that steel industry leaders are delicately weighing the possibility of a price increase. Some executives were outspoken for the need for higher prices while others were concerned over inflationary pressures, it said.

Demand for steel continued steady with order rates surprisingly high for the summer.

Production during the week held steady with the previous week at 2,270,000 tons. For the first 31 weeks of the year output totaled 72,443,000 tons, 4.8 per cent ahead of the 69,100,000 produced in the like period of 1963.

Jobless Rate Declines

The National Association of Purchasing Agents, in a report based on a survey of its members, said business was "phenomenally good" in July. For the first time since 1958 purchasing executives reported better new order and production figures in July than in June.

The Labor Department reported that unemployment dropped .04 per cent to 4.9 per cent in July. This was the first time the jobless rate has fallen below 5 per cent in nearly 4½ years.

Employment climbed to 72.4 million last month—the first time that it has exceeded 72 million.

The surge of retail sales was evidence by reports of record revenue in the first half of this year by four of the nation's major retail chains — Sears, Roebuck & Co., J. C. Penney Co., Montgomery Ward & Co. and Aldens, Inc.

On the other hand, construction in July dipped below the June rate, the Census Bureau said. Building outlays in July ran at an annual rate of $65,501,000,000, compared with $66,183,000,000 in June.

Man Who Slew Deaf Mute to Face Mental Exam

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old man, charged with first-degree murder in the shooting of a deaf mute during a tavern holdup, will undergo a mental examination.

Judge Burke I. Burke of Erie County Court Friday granted a defense request that Robert L. Hayes, a Negro, be given psychiatric tests.

Police said Hayes was stationed outside a tavern here last Jan. 22 as a lookout while 20-year-old Carla Leach, in the midst of holding up the bar, shot John Johnkins, 33.

Miss Leach, who is white, is charged with first-degree murder. She and Hayes are formerly from Columbus, Ohio.

Dies of Burns After Explosion

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP) —A young man died today of third-degree burns suffered in an explosion touched off by a fire that leveled a home, garage, barn, workshop and about 50 acres of brush.

Richard White, 20, of nearby Morristown, died at A. Barton Hepburn Hospital, where he had been in critical condition with burns over 70 per cent of his body.

White was injured Friday when a bottled gas container exploded and covered him with a sheet of flame. He had gone to the fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilbo, and was standing near the house when the bottled gas exploded.

Firemen from several volunteer departments fought the blaze for seven hours. Water had to be trucked seven miles because water supplies had dried up during the four-month drought.

The cause of the fire was not determined. Mrs. Gilbo said she discovered the house in flames when she returned from a shopping trip. Her husband was at a summer camp.

There was no estimate of damage.

Two Feared Drowned

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Two persons were missing and feared drowned today after a Dutch pleasure boat and a German tanker barge collided here in the Rhine River, police said.

The Dutch vessel Ahoy, had 64 passengers when it collided Friday with the tanker, Rheintank 11. Police said 16 persons from the Ahoy were hurled into the water.

Those in the tour were shown sweaters being manufactured from incoming yarn to the folding and boxing of the completed item. Kingston Knitting Mills have been located in Kingston since 1934.

Sees Hardships For Stores With New SLA Ruling

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of the State Liquor Authority foresees some hardships for existing liquor stores as a result of a decision to grant up to 2,000 new licenses annually.

The authority has announced details of the lifting of the 16-year-old ceiling on the number of liquor stores.

Donald S. Hostetter, SLA chairman, said Friday:

"We recognize that there's no way of doing this without somebody's finding himself in a most undesirable position. What we've tried to do in this transition is to try to be as helpful as we can."

He noted that liquor store owners could apply immediately to change their location within the county and, after Oct. 1, to anywhere in the state. New applications are to be acted upon after Dec. 1.

He said the order in which new applications will be dealt with will be determined by lot in a public drawing.

The authority's program, announced Thursday, calls for a gradual lifting of the moratorium. Applications will be received this December and during March, June and September next year. After that it will be on a continuing basis.

The changes were in line with revisions of the liquor control law enacted at a special session of the state Legislature last April.

Gov. Rockefeller had called for the revisions after grand jury probes of reported graft and corruption in the authority.

3 Children Suffocate

CHICAGO (AP)—Three children were found suffocated Friday night in an unused refrigerator on the back porch of their apartment building.

The bodies of Cynthia Ann Hartman, 4, and her brothers, Joseph 5, and Martin, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman, were found by police several hours after their mother reported them missing.

Says Turk Air Attack Could Be Prelude to War

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greek Defense minister Peter Garoufalias said today that Turkey's "unjustified aerial attack" on a Cyprus village Friday had created "a highly dangerous situation which might lead to war."

Garoufalias issued the statement as the chiefs of the Greek armed forces met to consider the military implications of the new crisis.

Garoufalias said the flight was an action provoking tension and simultaneously creates a highly dangerous situation which might lead to war."

Business Too Good

JFK Kin Close Up Cape Shop

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Business was too good for the sidewalk stands run by nieces and nephews of the late President John F. Kennedy.

They closed up shop Friday after customers and tourists in this seaside community had snarled traffic near the Kennedy compound.

The children, operating from orange-crate counters, offered postcards, medallions and souvenirs to raise funds for the Kennedy Memorial Library to be built in Boston.

They raised nearly $50 in two days from flabbergasted tourists who became willing buyers when they learned the identities of the storekeepers.

But after the word got around, Hyannis Port's narrow streets were jammed, and police had to be called to direct traffic.

And the enterprising Kennedy kids decided, reluctantly, they were too successful and went out of business.

Among those at the stands were Maria Shriver, 8; Robert Kennedy Jr., 10; his brother, David, 11, and sister Mary, 7; and Sydney Lawford, 7.

The committee, acting Friday also lopped off $16,045,500 from the military construction fund bill passed by the House May 26.

The committee's approval of $1,582,969,000 for construction at military bases in the United States and abroad also is $2,911,000 less than Congress appropriated last year.

The remaining money is for reserve units, defense department agencies, the defense atomic support agency, defense supply agency and family housing.

The Senate committee approved only enough money, $13,804,000, to build 7,500 new family housing units. The Defense Department had asked for 9,877 units.

The senators also approved $20,228,000 to continue a modernization at the West Point Academy, and restored $450,000, eliminated by the House, to provide a consolidated band facility at West Point. In addition, the Senate restored $350,000 that the House had cut from funds for work at the Academy's Washington Hall-Barracks complex.

Projects approved by the Senate for New York State, with House approved appropriations in parenthesis.
